BOY SEES BURGLAR BEAT MOTHER TO DEATH

County Bond Debt Ranks 5th From State's Lowest

ANNUAL COST PER CAPITA $18.81

Figures Released From State Office Show Local Position

The bonded debt bill for every person in this county this year is $18.81 for county, school and special assessment purposes.

This means that residents of this county are in an enviable position as regards the public debt, as only 12 California counties have a lower per capita debt, figures released by Controller Ray Riley showed today.

Broken down still farther, the figures place Orange county in a still better position, as only four of the 12 countries with a lower per capita debt have a higher total debt, which from the standpoint of indebtedness balanced against population placed Orange county fifth in the state.

Total Debt Told

In other words, the debt per person is less than in 12 other counties, but of these 12 only four have more people in them, which ranks the county fifth in point of public efficiency versus public debt.

Orange county's total bonded indebtedness, including general county bonds, school bonds and special assessment bonds, is $6,284,000, balanced against a per capita cost of $18.81, for paying these bonds. All per capita figures were based on the 1930 census returns.

The four counties ranking higher than Orange are Alameda, with a $23,190,000 bonded debt, and a $16.32 per capita cost; Fresno, with a $9,202,000 total debt and an $18.33 per capita cost; Sacramento, with a $10,787,000 total debt and a $17.28 per capita cost, and Santa Clara, with a $6,305,000 total debt and a per capita cost of $15.64.

School Bonds

Although Orange county ranks 36th in the state in general county bond indebtedness, 49th in special assessment indebtedness, and 50th in school bond indebtedness, and 50th in total indebtedness, these figures balanced against its population and per capita debt place it high in standpoint of efficiency balanced against debt.

The county's largest public debt is for schools. This figure is $3,958,000. Only counties with a higher school debt are Alameda, Los Angeles, Fresno, Sacramento, San Diego, San Francisco and Santa Clara, all with a larger population.

Orange county's general outstanding county bonds are for $600,000, and its special assessment bonds are for $1,725,000.

Voters here will be asked to pass a bond issue of virtually $2,000,000 for expenses in connection with the Orange county $13,000,000 flood control program in the near future.

California Legion Chief's Wife Dies

VENTURA. (AP)—Funeral services for Mrs. Eda Frances Emmett, 46, wife of the state commander of the American Legion and publisher of the Ventura Free Press, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at the Emmett ranch home near Santa Paula.

Mrs. Emmett died yesterday at a hospital here from complications resulting from spinal injuries in a Los Angeles automobile accident last March. A native of Hueneme, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Johnson, Ventura county pioneers.

SOUTH CHINA IS BOMBED

Chiang Strikes Boldly to Gain Upper Hand in Civil Warfare

By the Associated Press

The military planes of Chiang Kai-Shek, dictator of China's central government, were reported today to have rained bombs on the Kwangsi-Kwangtung provincial armies of Southern China.

Circuitous advices reaching Hongkong from Nanking indicated Generalissimo Chiang, threatened with civil war in the shape of an ostensible anti-Japanese military movement directed by leaders of the Canton (southwest) government, struck boldly to gain the upper hand.

Six bombers, the reports said, blasted Kwangsi concentrations near Wingchow, then dropped projectiles on Kwangtung army trenches in Southern Kiangsi province. But the southern militarists were adamant.

General Lichung-Jen, taking command of the fourth army of the southwest's anti-Japanese "salvation expedition," said his mission was two-fold: to "resist Japanese aggression and remove all obstacles in the way—including national traitors."

On the sea, the southwestern forces sent gunboats foaming toward the island of Hainan to block a reported Nanking attempt to occupy that mountainous base.

Cargo Talen Off Grounded Tanker

SHANGHAI, (AP)—The American tanker Finnanger reached the grounded oil ship Magnolia and took off its cargo today. Salvage tugs arrived to aid the stricken tanker, a 9600-ton vessel which stranded Saturday on rocks west of Moppo, Korea.

'SHAKEDOWN' TALES GROW

State Liquor Inquiry Recesses; Resumes July 24 in S. F.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Assemblyman Ralph Evans said today that scores of communications, relating to alleged "shakedowns" in obtaining liquor licenses, have been received by the assembly-audit-finance committee in the past few days.

The committee ended the first part of an inquiry Saturday into asserted irregularities in state liquor control.

"We are getting scores of communications from people who claim to have been approached in connection with their license applications," Evans said. "An interesting thing about them is that those who volunteer information give us their names. When we started, the majority of our calls were in the form of unsigned letters or anonymous telephone messages. Each of the new instances will be studied as a possible basis for more action."

The committee will resume its work in San Francisco July 24, he said. Chairman Leon M. Donihue said the investigation probably will assume a statewide status then.

"From the evidence already adduced," said Donihue, "it is apparent that California liquor control has been tinged with elements of both politics and corruption, with the result that public confidence in the present administration of liquor laws has been weakened if not destroyed. Both the revenue and administrative interests of the state and the public welfare are in jeopardy."

Fire Is Raging Near Crestline

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP)—More than 500 CCC enrollees and foresters waged a desperate battle today to bring under control a mile-wide fire sweeping through timberland of the San Bernardino National forest.

A brisk wind fanned the flames as they started in Sawpit canyon, west of Crestline, yesterday and denuded 500 acres on the northern desert slope of the San Bernardino range.

Shell Dug Up in Field Kills Nine

GORIZIA, Italy, (AP)—Nine persons were killed today when a heavy shell exploded after being dug up in a field.

MIDWEST SKY IS SCANNED FOR RAIN

Drencher Is Needed to Save Crops; Mercury Well Above 100

CHICAGO, (AP)—Midwestern farmers scanned the skies today for signs of crop-saving rain.

Meteorologists predicted showers and cooler weather for many parts of the arid mid-continent. But their forecast raised no false hopes. Experts contended a drenching downpour" was needed to stem the protracted drought that has shrivelled vegetation, dried streams and spread wide destruction through fields of small grains.

Long awaited precipitation was reported yesterday in scattered sections of the Dakotas, Minnesota and Montana, but in most cases it was too light to be of more than temporary benefit.

Extreme heat and hot winds beset the prairie states from Montana to Indiana. The mercury reached 110 at Brookfield, Mo. Record highs were reported at Kansas City, Mo., and Topeka, Kan., with readings of 107 and 106, respectively. Glendale, Mont., recorded 107; Grand Island, Neb., and Sioux City, Iowa, 104; Evansville, Ind., and Dodge City, Iowa, 102; Springfield, Ill., and St. Louis 100.

U. S. COMMITTEE ON DROUGHT AID MEETS

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The government's special drought committee of six was called to meet this afternoon by Jesse W. Tapp, chairman, as scattered rains failed to check an intense heat wave spreading from Alabama and Tennessee northwestward into the Dakotas.

Tapp said the committee would discuss immediate efforts to assist families in the north central drought states and study reports on the conditions and needs of livestock.

TEXAS TOWN FLOODED BY 16.27 INCH RAIN

EAGLE PASS, Texas, (AP)—This city's streets were flooded today from rain measuring 16.27 inches which fell from 10:30 p. m., Saturday to 7 a. m., this morning.

Persons in the town could not leave because roads were flooded and train schedules were broken. No mail or trains arrived in the city this morning. The Rio Grande had risen six feet at 11 a. m.

Loyal King Asks For Radio Permit

Loyal K. King, doing business as the Radio and Television company of Los Angeles, has applied to the federal communications commission at Washington, D. C., for permission to construct a new experimental broadcasting station, it was learned here today.

The station would be operated on 1530 kilocycles and 1000 watts, with unlimited time, if the permit were granted.

King formerly was business manager of The Register here, when it was owned by J. F. Burke. Burke and associates recently purchased KFVD, Los Angeles radio station.

U. S. Loses Round In Test of Law

NEWARK, N. J., (AP)—The government lost the first skirmish in a court challenge of the constitutionality of the federal social security act today as Judge Guy L. Fake ordered arguments to begin tomorrow.

The jurist, who has already ruled two New Deal acts unconstitutional, rejected the plea of government counsel that the arguments be put over until September. He instructed Merritt Lane, counsel for receivers of the Newark Milk Company, to start his oral arguments tomorrow and said that at that time he would set the date for the government's reply.

Scooters Cause 'Traffic Jam' At Local Store

Proving that children can have their traffic problems as well as adults, a dozen youngsters whose scooters were all mixed up had to be untangled by police Saturday night.

A report by a storekeeper, his establishment almost blocked off by the "traffic jam," brought officers to the scene. They got the vehicles untangled, gave the "drivers" a good talking-to, and let them go on.

Find Zioncheck in Office After Escaping Asylum

24-HR. HUNT FINISHES IN CAPITOL

'Mad Marion' Departs Private Sanitarium Via High Fence

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Representative Marion A. Zioncheck, Democrat, Washington, who escaped from a Towson, Md., sanitarium yesterday, appeared at the door of his office on Capitol Hill today after police had entered the office.

His hair was tousled, but his necktie was neatly tied and he wore a white shirt. He was in shirt sleeves.

The fleeting glimpses of the congressman, sought since his escape from a Maryland sanitarium some 24 hours earlier, came after hours of unverified reports that he had come to Washington early today and locked himself in his office.

Zioncheck Silent

Zioncheck appeared after capitol police, headed by Lieutenant Roy W. Brown, had entered the office, accompanied by William A. Weber, assistant sergeant at arms.

Zioncheck said nothing, but quickly closed the door behind one of the policemen coming out of his office. Only one or two persons directly in line with the small opening in the doorway caught a glimpse of him.

Two of the huskiest members of the capitol police were summoned and taken into the office while others guarded the entrance and prevented anyone but the police entering. A man addressed as "Dr. Sheppard" was called in from the corridor.

Warrant Issued

Sheppard and Enoch Pratt hospital at Towson.

Zioncheck escaped from the A warrant for his arrest was released for service earlier today by the district attorney's office.

The warrant was based on charges of Mrs. Benjamin Scott Young, who sublet her Harvard Hall apartment to Zioncheck, and is similar to a warrant issued Saturday for the arrest of Zioncheck's bride, Mrs. Rubye Nix Zioncheck.

Release of the warrant gave police here the right to arrest the

Man, 99, Jilted on Eve of Wedding

OLD FORGE, N. Y., (AP)—Jilted by his fiancee on the eve of their wedding, Charles Jeannette, 99-year-old Civil war veteran, gazed philosophically today at the ring he purchased for the ceremony and remarked:

"I'll make use of that in the future."

Meanwhile Mrs. Ella B. Manning, 55-year-old Albany widow who was to have become the old soldier's bride, was secluded at the home of a daughter at Saranac Lake. She refused to discuss her sudden departure from Old Forge Saturday night, less than 24 hours before the time set for her wedding.

Without a bride, Jeannette went through most of the wedding program he had arranged for yesterday.

Nab 150 Valuable Roosters in Raid

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—More than 150 imported roosters, valued at $50,000, were confiscated when the sheriff's vice squad raided a cock fight in the San Gabriel river bed and arrested eight men Sunday.

Deputies rescued a dozen persons from the river, into which they plunged in panic at the sudden raid.

'Mad Marion' in Toils of Law Again

After scrambling over a high wire fence yesterday to escape from a private sanitarium at Towson, Md., Representative Marion Zioncheck made his way to his office on Capitol Hill in Washington, D. C., where he was found today by officers and once more taken into custody. The above picture of Zioncheck, garbed only in trousers, was snapped several weeks ago when, still informally exuberant, he was in the clutch of officers on a charge of disorderly conduct.

RELIEF SETUP TO CHANGE

WPA Here Prepares for Prevailing Wage; to Drop Aliens

Decks of Orange county's Works Progress administration were being cleared today for action under the new setup of the third relief administration, which goes into effect July 1.

Manager Dan Mulherron, Fred P. Jayne, head of the Professional, Technical and Women's Work division, and Engineer Bob Phelps were in San Diego today conferring with district heads relative to minor changes under the new administration.

There will be no changes in the Orange county plan immediately, Mulherron said. Under the new setup prevailing hourly wages will be paid, with the monthly schedule to concur with the security wage level as heretofore, it was explained last week. This will mean fewer hours of work per month for most case workers, Mulherron said.

Aliens will be denied work under the new setup. No changes in administration will be entailed by this rule until Mexican workers begin returning to WPA rolls from seasonal work this fall, it was believed.

As far as is known at this time, all county projects will be continued, Mulherron said. Some changes may be made later in the year.

McCarl Leaving Office Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Comptroller General J. R. McCarl, whose term of office expires tomorrow, today announced himself available for an assignment from the senate committee investigating possibilities for consolidation and elimination of governmental agencies.

McCarl who, earlier today, had been admitted to practice before the United States court of appeals, said he had no definite plans for the future. His 15-year term ends tomorrow.

Corinne Griffith Weds Laundry Man

ARMONK, N. Y., (AP)—The Rev. Daniel Piper said today he performed a marriage ceremony Saturday for George Preston Marshall, Washington, D. C., chain laundry owner, and Corinne Griffith, star of the silent movies. With only three friends as witnesses, the couple were married in the Armonk Methodist church, of which Dr. Piper is pastor.

FILE KIDNAP CHARGES

Attackers of Marshall In Taxi Case to Be Arraigned Today

Kidnaping charges, with a possible death penalty as a result, were to be filed this afternoon in Orange against Gerald Vance and Don DeBord, 18-year-old Ontario youths accused of shooting and robbing Harold Marshall, 24, Laguna Beach taxi driver, on June 16.

Deputy District Attorney James L. Davis said today he would file the charges with Justice of the Peace A. W. Swayze this afternoon, and arraign the two suspects possibly today or tomorrow. The charges will be filed in Orange because Marshall, still weak from a spinal wound, is in St. Joseph's hospital in Orange township, and Davis plans to have the preliminary hearing at Marshall's bedside to expedite trial.

At the same time, Davis announced charges of robbery and assault with a deadly weapon, on which Vance was to be arraigned today and DeBord to have a preliminary hearing tomorrow, would be dismissed tomorrow morning.

Vance, who hitch-hiked to Medford, Ore., after the shooting on the night of June 16, was returned here last night by Deputy Sheriff James Workman. DeBord was arrested in Huntington Beach the day after the crime. Along with Vance, Workman brought back a .38 caliber nickel-plated revolver, admitted by Vance to be the gun with which Marshall was shot in a lonely place along Laguna canyon road when two men attempted to rob him and he resisted.

Japan Refuses to Join Naval Pact

LONDON, (AP)—Japan formally notified the British government today she would not adhere to the 1936 international naval treaty. The move was authoritatively characterized as a serious blow to British hopes of working out a universal naval treaty.

ENTERTAINER IS SLAIN BY HUGE NEGRO

Killer Talks to Child As He Murders Woman in Chicago Hotel

CHICAGO. (AP) — Before the terrified eyes of her 7-year-old son, who lay in bed beside her, Mrs. Florence Castle, 24, a comely divorcee and entertainer, was choked and beaten to death today by a huge negro who invaded her small room in a near North Side hotel.

On the mirror of a dresser the killer had scrawled with his victim's lipstick:

"Black Legion. Game."

Beneath the writing was a crudely drawn skull and cross bones.

Mrs. Castle's purse had been looted, indicating that robbery was the probable motive for the attack.

Killer Talked With Boy

The slaying occurred on the fifth floor of the Devonshire hotel, a 13-story building, just a few blocks north of the Loop.

James Castle, the son, who disclosed the slaying to the clerk of the hotel, said the invader conversed with him while he was beating the mother to death.

After the killer had fled down a five escape, the boy said he went back to sleep, not realizing his mother had been killed. But when he awoke later and was unable to arouse her, he ran in terror to the hotel lobby.

Bloody Brick Found

The police found Mrs. Castle's body, clad in a nightgown, across the bed. Two halves of a brick used by the killer were lying beside the bed, covered with blood. A window to a fire escape was open. Mrs. Castle's purse lay empty on the fire escape.

The boy told the police his father was James Thompson of Boston. He said he did not know the address. His mother, he said, had been divorced and later married a man he knew only as "Bud" Castle, who now lives in Los Angeles.

The police said they were unable to determine whether the victim had been criminally attacked. They said Mrs. Castle had been employed as an entertainer in a tavern until three months ago.

The boy was dressed when he came down to the lobby about 6 a. m. and told his story. He said his mother had read the "funnies" to him last night about 7 o'clock.

Said He Was Doctor

"She put me in bed pretty soon and I don't know how long it was before I woke up and saw the man," he told the police.

"The man was sitting over mamma and hitting her with something . . . He kept on hitting her by the side of her ear and I knew he was hurting her. Then he put his thumbs on her neck and left them there. Mama didn't move and I was frightened.

"I asked the man, 'What are you doing?'

"The man, a big black man, said, 'I'm a good doctor.'"

The boy said the slayer then arose and took Mrs. Castle's purse from a dresser drawer.

"He opened mamma's pocket-

WHO'LL GET THIS $143,000?

2 Men of Same Name Claim It

LAUREL, Miss. (AP)—A fortune of $143,000 in bonds, variously reported to be a legacy from a friend and a payment for a winning lottery ticket, was claimed today by two men with the same name.

The bonds were claimed last Thursday by Roy Ford, a pharmacist at Mize, Miss. Another Roy Ford, farmer, living about eight miles from Mize, also claimed the bonds. The Fords are distant cousins.

The decision as to whom the bonds belonged rested today with postal inspectors, who were holding them.

The pharmacist neither affirmed nor denied reports that a nurse who attended him when he was gassed in France willed the money to him.

The farmer intimated he won the money on a lottery ticket. The bonds were mailed from Canada.

The World's Best Known Man!

He is the world's best known man! His name is on every tongue in the United States. And his activities are watched with interest abroad from Baluchistan to Siberia. But yet it is remarkable how few people know the true story of his life, the amazing career that led to his present eminence, and high spots in his record that stand out like mountain peaks. We refer to Franklin Delano Roosevelt, president of the United States. You'll learn a lot you never knew about F. D. R. if you follow the interesting new art and picture series which The Journal starts today on page 7.

AUTO WRECKS INJURE 19 PERSONS

Possible Fracture of Skull Sustained by Passenger

Two persons were in the county hospital today, one still unconscious, and two others were being treated at home as the result of an auto accident early Sunday morning in Silverado canyon.

Week-end accidents injured a total of 19 persons.

Terry Hunt, 35, 815 West Bishop street, was unconscious with a probable basal skull fracture, broken ribs and ankle, and shock. He was riding in a car with three others on Silverado canyon road when the automobile skidded on a soft shoulder, then rolled 100 feet down an embankment.

Ribs Fractured

Lucille Hailey, 20, Olive, is suffering from a fractured vertebra and a possible skull fracture. The two other passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen, El Modena, were given first aid at the county hospital. Allen had several fractured ribs and Mrs. Allen had cuts and bruises about the head.

Fourteen others were injured in week-end accidents on Orange county highways, and one Santa Anan was hurt in a crash at Long Beach.

Three-year-old Tomico Honda, Costa Mesa, was in St. Joseph's hospital today with head injuries sustained when he assertedly ran into the road on Santa Ana avenue near Costa Mesa and was struck by a milk truck driven by Frank E. Leslie, 30, Gardena.

Head Injured

Louise Terley, 40, 1215 North Ross street, injured last night in an accident at Long Beach, was brought to the county hospital this morning suffering with a fractured kneecap.

John Boogard, 56, 223 South Sycamore street, was given first aid at the county hospital last night for head injuries, sustained when he walked across East First street, assertedly crossing the path of a car driven by Armand DeHaras, 23, Los Angeles.

Willis Walker, Fullerton, was treated at the county hospital yesterday for a fractured wrist and head injuries suffered in an accident near Fullerton yesterday.

Frank Boolen, 7, Garden Grove, was slightly injured Saturday night when he was struck by a car driven by David D. Gardner, jr., 23, Huntington Beach, in Garden Grove.

Eleven-year-old Winifred Vandergriff, Tustin, was cut and bruised Saturday night when she was knocked from her bicycle on San Juan street, east of Tustin. M. P. Thompson, 32, Tustin, was driver of the car.

Bert Shaw, 45, Yorba Linda, was bruised about the head late Saturday when he was struck by a car driven by Bill McFann, 19, Bakersfield, near Atwood.

Two-Car Collision

Thelma Goss, 815 West Bishop street, was treated at the county hospital yesterday for bruises about the hands sustained in an accident. She was released after first aid treatment. Jack Hunt, 33, 815 West Bishop street, was injured slightly.

Willard Keeler, 13, 710 Beverly place, was slightly injured Saturday afternoon at Fairview and Main streets when his car collided with one driven by Charles William Garrison, jr., 32, 525 South Sycamore street. Keeler suffered a bruised arm.

An unidentified driver struck a car driven by Mrs. Lydia Ward, 311 West Tenth street, on West Second street Saturday night, she told police. She was uninjured.

Car Turns Over

Cars driven by Samuel C. Goochman, Pasadena, and Chris George Lippincott, 1061 West Fourth street, collided at Eighth and Flower streets Saturday night. No injuries were reported.

W. P. Blackman, 24, Orange, was injured slightly when his car overturned at Central avenue and highway 101 yesterday after a collision with a car driven by C. H. Shoemaker, 25, La Habra.

Four persons were injured Saturday when the car in which they were riding left the road and overturned near Tyron's camp on the coast highway. They were George Raymond Smith, 32, and Mrs. Loretta Smith, 31, Hollywood, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Zieverick, Cincinnati, O. Their car left the road after a tire blew out. Injuries were minor.

PREPARE TRIAL IN SPY CASE

Federal officers in Los Angeles today marshaled their forces to attempt to secure a conviction for espionage against Harry Thomas Thompson, former yeoman in the U. S. navy and until last week a prisoner in the Orange county jail.

Thompson is jointly accused with Toshio Miyazaki with conspiring to sell naval secrets to Japan. Miyazaki, it is believed, is now instructor in the Japanese naval college at Tokyo.

Trial of Thompson is set for Thursday morning before District Judge Leon R. Yankwich.

Four state witnesses have been subpoenaed, according to the marshal's office. They are Ray Yamamoto, Tacoma, Wash.; Lieut. Herbert E. LeBarron, commanding officer of a CCC camp at Red Valley, Colo.; Edward L. Hoff, district director of the United States immigration office at Angel island, San Francisco, and Tadashi Fugimoto, San Francisco.

Roosevelt, Garner Receive Throng's Plaudits

WORK BEGUN BY DEMOCRATS

PHILADELPHIA. (AP) — Democratic leaders scattered to the four corners of the country today to preach economic freedom as the keynote of their campaign to re-elect President Roosevelt.

They carried a pledge to battle "economic tyranny" directly from the President who wound up the party's convention Saturday night by accepting his renomination before an enthusiastic crowd of 100,000 in rain-soaked Franklin field.

F. D. R. HAS MURPHY AND HORNER INTO LUNCH

HYDE PARK, N. Y. (AP)—President Roosevelt invited Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois and Frank Murphy of Michigan to the temporary White House today for a luncheon conference which may have a bearing on the coming election campaigns.

Coming in the wake of a breakfast talk yesterday with Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York, the meeting with the two midwestern Democratic leaders was believed by some of the President's intimates to be the beginning of a series of parleys for mapping of strategy and consolidating all possible ideas for Roosevelt's re-election drive.

DISMISS DEATH CHARGES

Lack of evidence today prompted Deputy District Attorney J. E. Walker to move for dismissal of negligent homicide charges against Adam Sepulveda, Corona, charged with causing the death of Francisco Gonzales in an auto accident.

Sepulveda, alleged driver of the car which skidded and overturned June 15 near Atwood, was released when Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison granted the motion. Walker explained one version of the accident was that the car had been struck by a truck after it began to skid, but that information was not clear.

Meanwhile Rudolph H. Meyer, Buena Park, was awaiting a preliminary hearing on similar charges in Anaheim justice court tomorrow morning. He is charged with negligent homicide as the result of death of seven-year-old Mary Lomeli, June 21.

Offer Special Swim Classes

Special swimming classes will be offered to men on Wednesdays, from 8 to 9 p. m., it was announced by Secretary Smedley, at the Y. M. C. A. today.

The work is open to all men, and will be free of charge to members, with a small additional fee charged to non-members for the swimming instructions they will receive.

Secretary Smedley said that the support that the "Y" receives from the local Community Chest makes it possible to offer these special privileges at such a low cost.

Mercury Goes On Spree Here

"It's always cool in Santa Ana," slogan of the chamber of commerce, was recalled Saturday and Sunday nights when, after several exceptionally warm days, the weather tried a new trick on Santa Anans.

Instead of behaving as well-trained weather should, and waiting until the wee sma' hours to reach its lowest point for the 24 hours, it hit the bottom between 10 and 11 o'clock each night, and stayed there until morning.

But—the bottom was only 68, Saturday, and 64 Sunday.

book," the boy continued, "and took out a lot of money.

"I asked him if he knew mamma's name and when he didn't I told him her name was Florence and that she came from Los Angeles.

"'I'm going to take your mother back to Los Angeles at 10 o'clock in the morning,' he told me.

"Pretty soon the doctor crawled out of the window and left, but I was so afraid I didn't get up. Mamma didn't answer and I went to sleep.

Heard No Outcry

"When I woke up I could see mother and I saw that the man had choked her, so I said to myself, 'I'll go downstairs and tell them the man choked my mamma.'"

The boy said he did not hear his mother make any outcry but that he was awakened by the shaking of the bed.

Before fleeing down the fire escape, the killer took "A piece of chalk (apparently a lipstick) and said he would write his name on the mirror," the boy said.

The writing was the reference to the "Black Legion."

"When the man left he said goodbye to me," the child related.

"When I woke up it was getting light. I thought something must be wrong with mamma because there was blood on the pillow and she was awfully quiet.

"So I got up and dressed and went downstairs and told the man down there."

Fingerprints Found

Elvin Richardson, the clerk notified the manager, who with the police went to the room and found Mrs. Castle dead.

Fingerprints were found on the dresser, the window sill and the bedroom screen.

The method of the killing was almost identical with that of the slaying of Mrs. Lillian Guild, 58, who was beaten to death with a brick in her room at the Y. M. C. A. on May 9. Thomas Starr, 29, former circus roustabout, confessed that crime and was sentenced to 199 years in prison.

'MAD MARION' JUMPS FENCE TO ESCAPE

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Marion A. Zioncheck, congressman from Seattle, for 24 hours baffled his pursuers in a weird game of hide-and-seek that began with his escape from a private sanitarium here.

Zioncheck began his latest escapade with a burst of speed and agility that all but dumbfounded attendants at the institution for mental treatment to which he was committed last week.

In a flash, the congressman patient leaped from a porch in the exercise yard to a window ledge about 11 a. m. yesterday. From there he sprang to a seven and a half foot wire fence, was over it and away.

The guards dashed after him, but they were no match for his skill and swiftness. He outdistanced them and disappeared, hatless and coatless, into a heavily wooded area of the 675-acre hospital estate.

SETTLE CLAIM

Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel today authorized John W. Wilcox of Costa Mesa to accept from Frances G. Shurtleff $569.50 in settlement of claims over the auto accident injury of Wilcox's daughter, Joan. The girl suffered a fractured collarbone and arm May 23 when she stepped from her own car and was caught by the door handle of Mrs. Shurtleff's passing auto.

ADAMS SERVICES TOMORROW

Funeral services for Anthony Adams, 41, well-known Santa Ana man who died yesterday, will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock from the Harrell and Wagner chapel, under the auspices of the Santa Ana Elks lodge.

Mr. Adams had been a resident of Santa Ana for the past 24 years. His widow, Mrs. Gertrude Roper Adams, is a member of one of Santa Ana's pioneer families. He was a member of the American Legion and the Elks lodge. The Rev. Harry Evans Owing will officiate, and cremation will follow.

Members of the honorary pallbearers corps named today include Edwin Van Meter, Dr. Charles V. Doty, Otto Jacobs, Don Rice, Daniel McDonald, Harry Kendall, Willard Wilson, Dick Whitson, Don Jerome, Tom Willits, Frank Finster and LaMont McFadden.

Survivors include, in addition to his widow, a sister, Mrs. Lars Hanson of Riverside drive; C. H. Adams, Orange, and W. H. Adams, Santa Ana, brothers, and a stepmother, Mrs. Cora A. Adams, Santa Ana.

SEEK TO SETTLE FLOOD BILLS

Although $6300 in advertising bills incurred in connection with the Orange county flood control bond issue have been ruled invalid in the courts, the board of supervisors today sought to arrange payment of other bills incurred, and held up by Auditor W. T. Lambert.

They directed M. N. Thompson, flood control engineer, to segregate bills for actual services rendered, including utility bills, and get the opinion of the district attorney on their legality. They asked that the bills be submitted for payment at the board meeting next week.

Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel has held in superior court that supervisors as ex-officio directors of the flood control district were without authority to insert advertising in newspapers. A ruling of Justice Kenneth E. Morrison of Santa Ana last week blocked at least temporarily an action of James S. Farquhar, publisher of the Huntington Beach News, to collect a $160 advertising bill from the board of supervisors.

FRIENDS ASSIST TAXI VICTIM

While Harold Marshall, 24-year-old Laguna taxi driver, lay paralyzed and weak in St. Joseph's hospital from effects of a gunshot wound in his spine, friends at Laguna today had raised more than $200 to aid him in his fight for life.

Friends started yesterday taking voluntary subscriptions, with H. A. Dunn, manager of the Sandwich Mill near which Marshall was found after being shot by bandits, heading the collection committee. Dunn said today he expected the fund to grow to $500.

Marshall's attendants reported today his legs are still paralyzed and that it has not been determined whether he will regain their use. In any event recovery is expected to be slow.

Low Interest Rate Continues

C. A. Palmer, manager of the Orange County National Farm Loan association, today announced receipt of information that the Federal Land bank interest rate to farmers will be continued for another year at 3½ per cent. Congress authorized the continuation just before adjournment and the bill was signed by President Roosevelt, Palmer said.

The rate has been 3½ per cent for the year ending July 1. Palmer said today those who already have paid their July 1 interest installments at 4 per cent will be credited with the extra half per cent to apply on their next installments.

RADICAL UNIT TAKES PART IN STRIKE

Charges that "the radical element" was muscleing in on the Orange county pickers' strike were circulated freely today, as six asserted agitators arraigned in Brea justice court this morning demanded jury trials, and 16 other Mexicans were arrested by sheriff's patrols, highway officers, and city Police over the week-end.

Growers reported the crop still moving, with the crews recruited a week ago. There was no violence or property damage. The sheriff's office reported several hundred of the most militant still on strike.

Radical List

The six in Brea were represented by Grover Johnson, Los Angeles counsel for the International Labor Defense, who came to this county to represent Charles McLauchlan, Communist arrested for strike activities. They all were charged with trespassing and vagrancy, and all entered pleas of not guilty. Their trial was set for July 9.

Saturday five strike sympathizers labeled by a representative of the district attorney's office as "known Communists" issued a public statement in which they defended striking citrus pickers and asked a "square deal" from packing houses.

Those backing the statement are Eleanor V. Ghiselin of Laguna Beach, said by a district attorney's investigator today to be the wife of McLauchlan; Rex Corson, Corona Del Mar, lathers' union representative; Mrs. Margaret Corson, of the Public Works and Unemployed union; Roy Alonzo, Orange, of the central strike committee, and Gus Feliz, Orange, of the Orange pickers' union.

In Brea more than 100 Mexican spectators jammed the city court in response to circulars demanding a demonstration today as the six alleged agitators faced the court. There was no demonstration.

Jail Two

Sheriff's men patrolled a mass meeting at Corona camp last night as Lucas Lucio, Mexican consular representative, addressed approximately 200 striking pickers, who voted to "stay out till their demands were met," according to Sheriff Logan Jackson.

Police arrested two as they were leaving this meeting.

The six who answered to charges of trespass and vagrancy in Brea this morning were Juan Garcia, Augustin Rodriguez, Ventura Terronez, Jesus Perez, Domingo Moranio and Thomas Garcia. All except Thomas Garcia were local men. They are being held under $500 bail pending trial.

Week-End Arrests

Those lodged in the county jail over the week-end include Juan D. Gonzales, 42, San Diego, given a 30-day sentence on a motor vehicle charge; Morris Nunez, 30, Lemon Grove, given a 10-day sentence on a similar charge; Merced Torres, 22, Anaheim, given 30 days on a similar charge; Andrew Leos, 34, Anaheim, held on traffic charges; Francisco Garcia, 31, Oxnard, given 30 days on motor vehicle charges; Joe Hernandez, 32, Orangethorpe, 30 days on the same charge, and Lewis Valencia, 18, La Jolla camp, given 30 days on a similar charge.

Nine were arrested and charged with drunkenness. They are Silvester Campos, 54, Orange; Arthur Sorinara, 22, Santa Ana; Romero Rodriguez, 26, Santa Ana; Gregorio Hernandez, 52, Placentia; Levarrato Holquin, 36, Santa Ana; Joe Carrillo, 45, La Habra; Rafael Gomez, 28, Garden Grove, and Mariano Maya, 32, Santa Ana.

Board in Final Meet of Year

Meeting today for the last time in the present fiscal year, which ends tomorrow night, the board of supervisors transferred $55,000 from the county general fund to the county welfare fund.

Of this, Auditor W. T. Lambert reported, $40,000 is needed to carry the welfare department costs. The additional $15,000 was transferred at the request of Nat H. Neff, superintendent of highways, and immediately transferred again to the road fund to defray material costs of projects carried on for work relief.

LEHMAN URGED TO RUN AGAIN

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—A thundering ovation at the Democratic convention put squarely up to Gov. Herbert H. Lehman Friday night the question of whether he would run again next fall and help President Roosevelt carry New York.

As if set off by a spring, hundreds of delegates bounded into the aisles shortly before midnight as Lehman arose to second the nomination of President Roosevelt. A parade started around the convention hall, bands blared and a solid wall of placards, mounted on poles, were lifted into the air proclaiming:

"Lehman must run," "Lehman Never Failed," "A Great Governor," and "Lerman by a Million."

The ovation was set off by the New York Young Democratic club which had arranged it to persuade Lehman to reverse his decision not to seek re-election this fall.

Re-election of Roosevelt was declared by Lehman to be essential to completion of the "social betterment" program undertaken by the New Deal. A Republican victory, he declared, would mean scrapping of much that has been set up.

Elks Hi-Jinks To Aid Charity

Ten acts of vaudeville, with Johnny Beck as master of ceremonies, are planned for the Elks' hi-jinks, starting at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the B. P. O. E. clubhouse. All Orange county Elks and Legionnaires are invited to attend, announced Harold Brown, hijinks chairman.

The purpose of the entertainment is to raise additional funds for the Elks' charity work, and to send delegates and officers to the convention to be held in Los Angeles July 14.

SHEPPARD HERE FOR ADDRESS

With Townsend hall, 509 West Fourth street, completely filled and several hundred persons gathered in the street outside, Harry R. Sheppard, Townsend congressional candidate, spoke Saturday evening at a mass meeting of Orange county Townsendites.

A 30-minute concert by Hurd's orchestra opened the meeting. Herbert F. Kenny, accompanied by Miss Lizetta Phillips, led community singing. Several Townsend speakers preceded the congressional candidate, including George Wixom and the Rev. S. L. Wengert, San Bernardino; J. H. Walsh, Costa Mesa, and Judge M. C. Summers, LaVerne, campaign manager in the 19th district for Sheppard. Harry D. Riley, Anaheim, presided.

Greeted with enthusiastic applause, the congressional candidate told of his two-year alignment with the Townsend movement, and predicted that within five years the Townsend plan would invade other countries.

He declared that if elected, he would consider enactment of the Townsend plan his major objective, and that he would be vigorous in its support in Congress.

Sheppard told of his 17 years as efficiency engineer and later venture as a manufacturing chemist. He attended Alabama college and Georgia Tech.

Board Sets Rate For Copyists

Looking forward to next week when Tax Collector J. C. Lamb will turn over 2600 tax deeds to Recorder J. Fred Sidebottom, the board of supervisors today adopted a copyist fee rate for work on printed forms.

Copyists who are paid four cents per 100 words on instruments which must be typed into record books will be paid two and one-half cents per 100 words when filling in printed forms under the new schedule. The new rate, paid for both the printed and typed matter, will average four cents per 100 words of matter typed into the forms, supervisors said.

FLOOD WORK SPURRED

Action toward construction of the $13,000,000 Orange county flood project was advanced a step this morning when the board of supervisons adopted a resolution dropping its request, made June 25, 1935, for a PWA loan and grant.

This action, it was explained, was necessary in order to participate under the flood control projects set up by congress, under direction of army engineers. Orange county's project was approved for $13,000,000 under the omnibus bill.

Supervisons were expected to act this afternoon on a report of Supervisors W. C. Jerome of Santa Ana and Willard Smith of Orange that Federal land bank appraisers should be used. Their fee will be $15 per day and expenses. Work is expected to require 90 days.

When land for right-of-way purposes has been appraised it will be necessary for the county to approve a bond issue to purchase the rights.

BROCK DENIES A.A.A. OUT

Pro-rating of oranges has been temporarily restrained by court order, but in most cases, the Little AAA has not lost a final decision in any of the four marketing program acts, announced A. A. Brock, former Orange county agricultural commissioner who is now director of the state department of agriculture.

Brock has set July 9 as the date for a hearing upon proposed milk marketing and stabilization plans for the San Bernardino-Riverside district, and July 8 for a similar hearing in the Los Angeles area.

Decision of Superior Judge Reuben Schmidt, Los Angeles, against the regulation of grapefruit marketing merely restrains enforcement of the law until higher courts decide upon the act's constitutionality, Brock said.

Superior Judge James L. Allen recently held the state A. A. A. unconstitutional in a case against Withers brothers, Placentia packers.

Must Register For Camp Early

Boys planning to attend the next camp period at Osceola, the Y. M. C. A. summer camp, should register at once at the local Y. M. C. A., it was announced today by Secretary D. H. Tibbals.

Ninety visitors set a new high mark Sunday at the camp, and 230 visitors and campers were served a huge barbecued dinner.

MISS SAWYER IN ELKS CONTEST

Margaret Ellen Sawyer, 1322 Durant street, has been selected as Santa Ana's representative in the Elks convention contest, the winner to become "Miss Liberty" and have the place of honor on the Americanism float in the Elks' motion picture electrical pageant. This will be held in the Los Angeles coliseum on the night of July 16, it was announced today by J. J. Doyle, vice chairman of the convention committee.

The winner will be selected by a jury of famous motion picture directors, artists and representatives. Their choice will receive a screen test.

The winner will be queen of the convention as well as the belle of the ball. Each of the entrants will serve as a lady-in-waiting to the one chosen queen, and will ride with her on the float.

POLICE REPORTS

Very much fascinated by the "choo-choos," three-year-old Arthur Almanza seemed to be all by himself at the Santa Fe station yesterday. Station employes called police, who returned the boy to his aunt, Mrs. Josephine Acala, 1220 East Second street.

J. W. McLoney's dog wasn't mad. He may have been a bit peeved when a car hit him, but a report by a passing motorist that "there's a mad dog at 417 West Nineteenth street" was discovered by police to be unfounded.

Robert B. Turley, 806 West Second street, reported theft of a child's scooter from his home. Officers questioned a small boy, got the scooter back, and released the young suspect.

Whereabouts of a white roadster, supposed to have been stolen from in front of 615 South Sycamore street Saturday night, today was a mystery. So was the identity of the person reporting the theft. When officers called at that address, they found no such report had been made from that house.

Three Mexican girls were questioned and warned after Lewis Arce, 723 East Pine street, reported theft of three ears of corn from his garden Saturday night.

Burglars who entered his back door yesterday afternoon made off with an inlaid tennis racket valued at $9, it was reported by E. R. Childs, 1201 South Broadway.

Her car, a small black sedan, was stolen Saturday night from its parking place between Third and Fourth streets on Birch street, Mrs. Paul Canaday, 907 Towner street, told officers.

Poundmaster H. D. Pickering was called to officiate when a motorist reported a dead dog at First and French streets Saturday night.

A clerk in a drug store at Fourth and French streets called officers when an unidentified man walked into his store and tried to buy poison. The man was intoxicated, he said.

Loss of a cocker spaniel dog, black with white spots, was reported by Davis E. Hughes, 1902 Bush street.

COURT BRIEFS

Trial of the suit of H. B. Oil Company against Beloil Company for $895 for damage to tanks on which a derrick owned by the latter allegedly fell, has been set for trial July 13 in Presiding Judge C. K. Scovel's court.

Attorney-General U. S. Webb has dismissed in superior court here an action to collect $84.94 in oil and gas supervisor's assessments assertedly due from S. M. Brooks, O. D. Oil Company, and Whittier Santa Fe Springs Company.

POLICE TALE IS ON KVOE TONIGHT

The dramatized, true story of the finding of the most fruitful source of supply of marijuana ever seized in decades of crusading against this vicious form of narcotic will be told in tonight's broadcast of "Calling All Cars!" from KVOE at 7 o'clock.

To Sergeant Cox of the Sacramento police department goes the distinction for this narcotic roundup, a policeman who has 20 years of service to his credit. With police records as his guide, Bill Robson, producer of "Calling All Cars!" has written the factual play which tells of Cox's perseverence and ingenuity.

Guided by requests, the Sons of the Pioneers have selected four of their most popular tunes from their large repertoire for their program tonight at 8:30. They will include the difficult novelty number, "Old McDonald Had a Farm;" "Oh, Susanna" by Stephen Foster; an original composition by Verne Spencer, which he will sing, called "Song of the Prairie;" and "Outlaw Rag," featuring the Farr Brothers, Carl and Hugh.

Rubinoff has selected for the tenor, Jan Peerce, Thayer's romantic song, "For Love Alone," which will be heard in "Musical Moments" tonight at 7 o'clock through World Broadcasting facilities.

Requests will be answered by the Aloha Hawaiians in their program this evening at 5:15 to include "Sweet Sue," "Naughty Hula Eyes;" "Breeze" and "Farewell Blues."

An informative and educational six-minute talk by a well known chiropodist will be made during the "Rhythm of Healthy Feet" presentation tonight at 7:15, featuring the music of Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians. Featured numbers will be "Misty Islands of the Highlands" and "No Greater Love."

Tonight's presentation of "Marimba Melodies" at 8 o'clock and as played by Dr. Ralph Murane will include "A Beautiful Lady in Blue" and "You Started Me Dreaming."

GILBERT WINS TRIP
WILKINS ANNEXES ONE
LANTERN IN NIGHTBALL

Doyle Gilbert, ex-Santa Ana Junior collegian whose broad-jumping as a Don captain went unequalled in the Eastern conference, has developed into a graceful hop-step-and-jump artist through constant practice at U. S. C.

So graceful and so good that he has earned the right to compete in New York in the U. S. final tryouts for the Olympic Games in Berlin.

Competing unattached, the springy-legged athlete sailed through the ozone 47 ft. 3 in. for a first place in the hop-step-and-jump of the far-western trials in Memorial Coliseum, Los Angeles, Saturday.

Norman Paul, another Santa Anan, and former U. S. C. captain, finished fourth in the same event at 45 ft. 1½ in.

Jim (Iron-Man) Daneri, Santa Ana Junior college's greatest all-time trackman who now attends Oregon State, had the misfortune of breaking his javelin in warm-up trials. He went unplaced with a strange spear around 185.

Daneri has several tosses above the 215 ft. mark.

Up at Porterville in the San Joaquin Valley Night Ball league the rival Delano nine the other night brought a lantern and stationed it out at second base during pre-game practice . . . a sarcastic dig at the Porterville lighting system . . . wonder why some outfielder hasn't pulled that stunt at Huntington Beach?

* * *

Jim (Smokey) Wilkins, Santa Ana High school twirler, pitched his first game for the Catalina Cubs on Avalon field the other day, and won it 5-2.

After a summer of seasoning on the island, Jim plans to return to high school in September and work toward his diploma in Feb.

A trial with Ponca City of the Western association — or perhaps with Los Angeles of the Coast league—awaits him upon graduation.

* * *

Nightball addicts are beginning to wonder what effect Louie Neva's departure will have upon National league attendance.

While their Russian twirler is toiling at Tulare will Huntington Beach's Oilers continue to draw as well at the gate?

The answer would appear in the negative, but managers of the six-team wheel believe attendance will not fall. They maintain a more evenly-balanced league (which is certain to result while Neva's away) will increase fan interest.

Neva's brilliant pitching and dynamic hitting will be missed, but the absence of the great one will greatly enhance the chances of the other clubs to escape the second division.

Santa Ana, this department's choice to win the second half, will remain idle tomorrow night. Manager George Lackaye will return from a brief vacation in San Francisco to lead the Stars against the New York Globe-Trotters, National Negro champions, at the Municipal bowl Thursday.

The Stars are hosts to Huntington Beach and Russ Coggan, Manager Joe Rodgers' No. 1 hurling attraction, in their second-half debut here Tuesday of next week.

Art Cohn, Long Beach Press-Telegram columnist, ranks Lewis Wetherell of Santa Ana as the most improved youngster in Southern California tennis.

Dr. Bartosh Trims Wetherell for L. B. Net Crown

LONG BEACH. (AP)—The Long Beach tennis crown went to foreign soil today as a result of the finals victory of Dr. Gerald Bartosh, Los Angeles, over Lewis Wetherell, Santa Ana.

Bartosh's passing shots won the first two sets handily.

The men's doubles title was captured by Frank Shields, former Davis cupper, and Jack Tidball, ex-intercollegiate star, both of Hollywood, who downed a dark-horse team from Santa Monica, Mort Ballagh and Billy Doeg, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, 9-7.

Fullerton Water Polo Champions Off to Chicago

Fullerton's water polo team, known as the "Orange County Valencias," left by train from Los Angeles yesterday for Olympic Games trials in Chicago Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The Fullerton senior chamber of commerce donated $100 to complete an expense fund of $900 necessary to send Coach Jimmy Smith and the following boys to the trials:

Henry Chapman, expert diver; Bob Sellers, Willis Newsome, Jack Priver, Paul Collins, Charles Whittaker, Dick Summers, Devere Christiansen, George Jeffrey, William Wickett and Felix Basabe.

The Chicago trip is being sponsored by the Fullerton junior chamber of commerce.

U. S. OLYMPIC HOPES HIGH

Talent Rated Best in Years

By ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK. (AP)—All that the United States needs to do now, so far as Olympic track and field prospects are concerned, is to keep its fingers crossed, trust that no critical mishap befall in the final tryouts next week, and hope for the best when the athletic Argosy sails July 15 for Berlin.

On the basis of semi-final trials, completed Saturday, the nation never before has been better equipped with talent for the entire range of Olympic championship events. World records have been broken in five events, Olympic marks bettered in 10 by the combined assaults of our foremost competitors, time and distance. The big problem involves keeping the survivors on edge until the games in August.

Today's roundup includes performances made in the National collegiate A. A. championships a fortnight ago as well as the remaining three semi-final meets conducted last week in Cambridge, Milwaukee and Los Angeles. All available evidence points to a thrilling climax in the final tryouts at Randall's Island stadium, New York, Saturday and Sunday, July 11-12, when the best three performers in each event, plus surplus runners for the relays, will win places on the team.

This week, to keep on edge as well as to strive for National A. A. U. championships, the cream of the crop will be seen in action, Friday and Saturday, on Princeton's famous Palmer stadium track.

Californians Dominate

College athletes in general and Californians in particular dominate the survivors of the semi-final tryouts. The N. C. A. A. meet week before last at Chicago, produced most of the world record feats, including 10.2 in the 100 meters for Jesse Owens, Ohio States triple Olympic threat; 14.1 in the 110-meter hurdles by Forrest (Spec) Towns, Great Georgia timber topper; 46.1 in the 400-meter run by Archie Williams, California negro; and 173 feet in the discus by Ken Carpenter of Southern California.

The outstanding record performance over the past week-end was that of Glenn Morris, 24-year-old Denver automobile salesman, in the decathlon final tryouts at Milwaukee. Morris, a newcome to the all-round spotlight this year, amassed 7.880 points in the ten-event test to break the world mark of 7,824.5, made in 1934 by the German, Hans Sievert. These figures are based on the new scoring table. Sievert, probably will not even start in the Olympics because of injuries.

The sectional tryouts forecast dazzling competition in all the foot-races from 100 to 1500 meters in the finals at Randall's island, as well as a hot battle for places in the hurdles, the pole vault, discus and high jump.

Bill Bonthron's comeback, topped off by a 1500-meter victory over Gene Venzke at Cambridge Saturday, paves the way for another great duel in the "metric mile," with Glenn Cunningham and Archie Sarl Romani representing the middle west.

The 400-meter run shapes up as another thriller with Archie Williams, Jimmy LuValle of U.C.L.A., Jack Hofzstetter of Dartmouth, and Eddie O'Brien of Syracuse meeting for the first time. Williams is the year's sensation, LuValle the most consistent performer, and O'Brien the question mark.

Frank Wykoff's comeback to win the 100 meters at Los Angeles offers him the opportunity to make the Olympic team for the third time but the sprints looks to be a cinch for the twin negro fliers from the midwest, Owens and Ralph Metcalf of Marquette. The Los Angeles tryouts produced a new negro "find" for the 200 in Mack Robinson, who bettered the world and Olympic mark with a 21.1 performance.

Ben Eastman strengthened his place as the No. 1 hope for the 800 by winning in 1:50.1 at Los Angeles but he has a new rival in John Woodruff, University of Pittsburgh negro, who was clocked in 1:51.3 at Cambridge. Chuck Hornbostel, the Indiana veteran, who did 1:51.9, Ross Bush of Southern California and Charles Beetham of Ohio State, the N. C. A. A. champion, promise a five-cornered fight for the three Olympic berths.

Sam Allen Beaten

Four pole vaulters cleared 14-3 in Saturday's competition, including two newcomers to such heights, Dave Weichert of Rice Institute and George Varoff of San Francisco's Olympic club. The others were Bill Graber, Southern California veteran who holds the listed world record, and Bill Sefton, U. S. C. undergraduate. The man they may all have to beat, however, is Earle Meadows, another U. S. C. ace.

Biggest surprise of the semi-finals was Fritz Pollard, jr., son of Brown university's famous negro all-America football star. Young Pollard, not hitherto rated an Olympic candidate, beat two of the country's best high hurdlers, Sam Allen of Oklahoma Baptist and Phil Cope of Southern California, in the 110 meter event at Milwaukee, timed in 14.5 seconds.

TOMMY YOUNG'S .422 PACES NIGHTBALL SWATSMITHS

Third-Baseman Tommy Young annexed first-half batting laurels, and six Santa Anans hit above the .300 figure in official 15-game averages released today by the National Night Ball league.

Young poled 19 hits in 45 trials for a .422 percentage. Other Stars far up the list were Tom Denney, .358; Jim Coates, .349; Nan Coots, .327; Al Reboin, .323, and Ben (Bomo) Koral, .291.

The averages are complete except for a postponed Olive-Orange game which will be played at Orange tomorrow night.

Most of the clubs will rest in preparation for the second-half opening Tuesday of next week. . . . Manager Joe Rodgers of Huntington Beach is going north for the Porterville-Hanford game tomorrow night. . . . Manager George Lackaye of Santa Ana is in San Francisco, but will return in time for the Stars' exhibition with the New York Globe-Trotters, negro champions, here Thursday night.

OAKLAND ACE VICTOR 6-2, 6-4, 6-4

Bitsy Grant Trounced By Titleholder in Straight Sets

WIMBLEDON, Eng., (AP)—Donald Budge, Oakland, Calif., redhead, advanced to the semi-final round of the all-England tennis championships today with a 6-2, 6-4, 6-4 victory over Adrian Quist, Australian champion.

Fred Perry, bidding for his third straight title, also gained the penultimate round and will meet Budge Wednesday.

The defending titleholder trounced Bryan (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta, Ga., in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

Gene Mako of Los Angeles, who with Donald Budge had reached the third round in the doubles, was forced to withdraw from further competition owing to a shoulder injury suffered 10 days ago during the Kueens club tournament. His withdrawal was advised by his doctor.

OLYMPIC TRIAL FOR GILBERT

Automatically qualifying for the United States finals in New York July 10 and 11, Doyle Gilbert, former Santa Ana Junior college and U. S. C. broadjumper, leaped 47 ft. 3 in. for victory in the hop-step-and-jump of the far-western trials in Los Angeles Saturday.

His mark was outstanding on the Coast, but fell considerably short of the 49 ft. ⅛ ni. effort of Dudley Wilkins of the Southwestern Louisiana A. C. back East.

Norman Paul, Santa Anan and one-time captain at U. S. C., placed fourth behind Gilbert with a mark of 45 ft. 1½ in. Erwin Miller, Fullerton Junior college's quarter-mile champion of the Eastern conference, finished third to LuValle and Young, the U. C. L. A. marvels, in the 400-meter run.

Name New Players For All-Star Game of Majors

NEW YORK. (AP) — Charley Grimm of the Chicago Cubs and Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees, who will manage the National and American league all-star teams in their annual inter-league battle at Boston July 7, today announced their selections of players to complete their squad.

According to the method of selection adopted this year, the fans picked 16 players for each team by their votes in newspaper polls while the managers were allowed to name five additional players to round out 21-man squads.

Grimm selected two of his own players, Curt Davis, the pitcher expensively acquired from the Phillies and Outfielder Augie Galan; two Cardinals, Jim (Ripper) Collins, who probably will start at first base since the fans' choice, Bill Terry, has withdrawn from the squad because of his ailing legs, and shortstop Leo (Lippy) Durocher; and Lew Riggs, young Cincinnati third-sacker.

McCarthy's choice were Pitchers Tommy Bridges of the Detroit Tigers and Mel Harder of the Cleveland Indians; Rick Ferrell, Boston's dependable backstop who may do most of the catching since Mickey Cochrane of the Tigers, originally nominated as catcher as well as manager, was forced out by illness; Leon (Goose) Goslin, veteran Tiger outfielder and world series hero and Frank Crosetti, Yankee Shortstop.

PLACENTIA BOY FIGHTS HERE

Ray Vargas, the Placentia Mexican middleweight who kayoed Ken Holiday, one of the toughest scrappers in this section in the first round and last week belted out his opponent in three heats to win his only two amateur fights in sensational manner, today agreed to appear on Thursday night's fight card at the Orange County Athletic club against the pick of the Ontario American Legion boxing team.

Another youth, Willard Wright, Fullerton Junior college entry, who won his first fight last week, will be on the coming program, Promoter Sam Sampson announced today. Other local favorites will be pitted against the cream of the Ontario boxing team.

HUNTERS SET RECORD

World records—10.3, by Tolan, Percy Williams and Ralph Metcalfe; 20.6, by Roland Locke and Metcalfe.

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK.—The streaking shadows of the Olympic straightaways four years ago at Los Angeles marked not only the returns of sprint supremacy to the United States, but the beginning of an ebony epoch.

The American negro's ascendency, gained by the twin triumps of Michigan's bespectacled little Eddie Tolan in the Tenth Olympiad, with dusky Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette in pursuit, has now become firmly established. The white boys of today are no more a match for their coffee-colored rivals in sprinting than the pale-faces of frontier days where in their attempts to outrun the redskins.

Owens May Succeed Tolan

There may be many a slip between now and the first week of August in Berlin but it's conceivable American negroes will run at least 1-2 in the Olympic dashes. If dusky Eulace Peacock of Temple, national champion, recovers fully from a pulled tendon, they may make it 1-2-3 in the classic 100 meters for the U. S. A.

Peacock last year beat Europe's best with monotonous ease, but our two top sprinting bets now are Jesse Owens, the great Ohio State athlete, and Metcalfe, 200-meter national champion for the past four years. Rated off his spring form, Owens has a good chance to duplicate Tolan's double. He has equaled the world record of 9.4 seconds for 100 yards on two occasions. The veteran Metcalfe, conditioning himself slowly for the Olympics, is more powerfully built and favored by a majority of coaches to show peak form in Berlin.

In 1932 Metcalfe, then just a college sophomore, lost an eyelash decision to Tolan in the closest 100-meter finish in Olympic history. He ran third to Tolan and George Simpson of Ohio State in the 200. Tolan subsequently turned professional. Simpson has retired.

Uncle Sam Seems Safe

Thus, barring mishap or the comet-like rush of a Percy Williams to the fore, there appears nothing for Uncle Sam to worry about in this year's Olympic dashes. Williams, the slim Canadian, was the first and only sprinter to administer a coat of whitewash to the Americans. He did it in 1928, the year that marked the low ebb in this country's Olympic foot-racing fortunes. Frank Wykoff's fourth place in the 100 and Jackson Scholz's third in the 200 were our best at Amsterdam.

Tolan set new Olympic records in both dashes four years ago but his marks may take a beating from the double-barrelled attack of Owens and Metcalfe. Owens raced the 220 in 20.3 seconds last year. Metcalfe shares the listed world mark of 20.6 for the 200 meters as well as the standard of 10.3 for the metric century.

Whereas speedy sons of the British Empire alone have interrupted America's Olympic sprint conquests heretofore, it appears the strongest opposition this year may come from Germany, Switzerland or Japan. Arthur Jonath of Germany was the only real foreign threat to the Americans four years ago. The Swiss, Haenni, and Japan's Yoshioka, a finalist in the 100 at Los Angeles, rate chances to score, at least, in Berlin.

LOCAL GIRLS LOSE, 12-8

Misses Edith Armfield and Bobbie Wakeham issued only six hits, but the Santa Ana Girls' league representative, the Smith-Coronans, fell before the Los Angeles Averill cafe softball nine, 12 to 8, here Saturday night.

The Typists, coached by Gordon Mallett and Fred Cartwright, had the satisfaction of earning 13 hits, and got off to a 4-2 lead in the first inning. But series of walks and errors, combined with two hits, proved fatal in the third when the invaders scored six runs.

Kate Dahm, rightfielder, and Miss Stevens, third-baseman, hit three safeties for the Smith-Coronans.

Seattle, Trouncing Seals, Regains Coast Leadership

By the Associated Press

A new league leader, dizzy scorekeepers, and tired pitchers were left in the wake of week-end Coast league ball games, many of them remindful of Olympic track trials.

After a fruitful week against San Francisco's Seals, Seattle reposed in first place, while the Missions, leaders last Thursday, were faced with a fight to stay in fourth place.

Batters went on a two-day spree and cuffed pitchers unmercifully, with Oakland's 27-6 victory Saturday over the Reds the highlight. The Oaks got 30 hits Saturday, while over the league the total was 103.

In Sunday doubleheaders, there were a few low-score games, but batters managed to pole out 162 hits. In spite of Oakland's unusual feat of finding Mission pitchers for 108 hits during the series, Manager Bill Meyer's men had to relinquish the league lead to Seattle, who lost only a single game all week.

The Indians took two from the Seals yesterday, 6-2, 7-3. Oakland split with the Reds, copping the first game, 10-3, and losing the seven-inning finale, 4-8. Los Angeles and Portland divided, the Beavers winning the opener, 4-3, and dropping the nightcap, 1-6. San Diego took the first game against Sacramento, 14-7, but the Solons won the second, 4-3, in eight innings.

Lelivelt Returns To Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—With a month's scouting expidetion in the east netting no new baseball players, Jack Lelivelt resumed the managership of the Los Angeles Angels today.

The local skipper said "several of the big league clubs are not playing any better ball than we have right here in the Coast league—and what good players I saw I could not secure."

CAMPBELLS IN GOLF VICTORY

It was a big week-end for the Dean Campbells at the Santa Ana Country club.

They finished with an aggregate of 364-62-302 to win the husband-and-wife golf tournament yesterday, after Dean had teamed with Mickey Walker to win Saturday's best-ball sweepstakes with a 74-16-58.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Shields, 368-62-306; Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Miller, 381-74-307, and Mr. and Mrs. B. W. McClure, 381-72-309, were other winners in the husband-and-wife tourney. Ed Holmes and E. Robins, 75-12-63, and Hugh Shields and H. B. Rapp, 78-1-63, scored in Saturdays' best-ball play.

L. W. Bemis defeated N. W. Miller, 89 to 77, in the defeated flight of the President's cup.

LUTZE DRAWS HANSEN AT 101 CLUB

Two Unbeaten Grapplers To Headline Sampson's Four-Bout Card

Dirty Dick Daviscourt, generally regarded as the roughest and toughest matman in the district, will attempt to halt the winning streak of the 225-pound Basque-Mexican heavyweight wrestler, Senor Olaquival-Pico, at the Orange County Athletic club tonight.

Nick Lutze, now at a peak in popularity, matches holds with Bill Hansen of Salt Lake City, the new favorite, in the final three-fall match of a four-bout program.

Both Unbeaten Here

Both Hansen and Olaquival-Pico are undefeated in this sector. Pico has won four consecutive matches, scoring sensational upsets over such performers as Bill Sledge, giant Thor Johnson, Bill Bartosh and Casey Columbo while Hansen has a longer list of victims to his credit, and like Olaquival-Pico gets his real test tonight.

The 225-pound Basque really faces his most formidable foe when he tackles the battle-scarred Daviscourt and Hansen likewise meets the most dangerous man he has ever faced in Lutze. The latter is expected to deal out no end of punishment and if Hansen can weather the storm, he'll be ready for the topnotchers, including Champion Vincent Lopez.

If Olaquival-Pico crushes Daviscourt, his backers will immediately post a challenge with the State Athletic commission demanding a championship bout with Lopez, who, it is alleged, twice dodged a match with the latest European contender. Olaquival-Pico, cousin of Paulino Uzcudun, looks more like the Basque fighter than Paulino himself.

Strelich vs. Zinn

Two one-fall, 30-minute matches round out an attractive program. Steve Strelich, popular flying drop-kick and flying hook-body scissors expert, meets "Wildman" Zinn and Rudy Skarda, powerful Finn, tackles Count Casmir, an unknown who makes his local start, highly recommended.

Strelich, heretofore known as the "Terrible Swede," is widely known hereabouts, appearing here several years ago at the Old Delhi arena and later at the Orange County 101 Highway club. Skarda boasts a one-hour battle with the former world champion Jim Londos as his greatest ring achievement.

Tomorrow Night

Latter Day Saints vs. Carpenters.
Joe's Grocery vs. Commercial National Bank.

Knights of Columbus, the Santa Ana City league's new sensation built around Ray Ortez, Anaheim twirler, will battle the 1935 champion Elks at 9 o'clock, and the unbeaten First National Bank club will take on the South Methodists in the curtain-raiser to a softball doubleheader at the Mucipipal bowl tonight.

Because of a conflict with the Santa Ana Stars' exhibition with the New York Globe-Trotters, United States negro champions, here Thursday, the City leaguers have moved ahead their other games to tomorrow night.

Ortez, who blanked the Commercial National bank's first-half champs, 7-0 last week, will oppose Gil Yorba and Joe Cornelius of the B. P. O. E.'s, whose lineup will remain unchanged, Manager Ken Miller said.

President Kenneth Morrison scheduled a meeting with his commissioners, T. J. Neal and W. F. Menton, in James cafe at noon today to rule on the protest on umpiring filed by Joe's Grocery following a 10-5 game won by the Elks.

California Crew Moans Loss of No. 5 Oarsman

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., (AP)—A split rib may put a crimp in California's chances of winning the right to represent America in the Olympic Games eight-oared competition for the third straight time.

A few days ago doctors found Al Daggatt, No. 5 on the Golden Bear crew was injured, and since that time a substitute has rowed in his place. The smooth teamwork that prevailed before Daggatt's injury is missnig.

Coach Al Ulbrickson today announced the starters in four-oared Olympic Games competition at Princeton July 4-5, and was prepared to move his Washington squad to the scene of the trials. Coach Ky Ebright's Bear crews left here yesterday.

IRVINE INVADES BREA TONIGHT

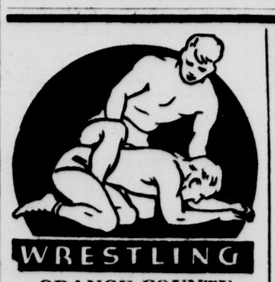

Irvine will be called upon to defend its one-game lead in two Orange County Night Ball league crucials tonight and Thursday.

Ernie Lagier's battling Beanpickers play Virgil Kiger's Lions at Brea tonight, while San Juan Capistrano sends its new pitcher, Eddie Myers of San Diego, against Pete Lehr's second-place Red Lions at Anaheim, and Placentia's Packers invade Huntington Beach to play Paul Bowen's Class B. Oilers.

The "big game" comes Thursday night, with Anaheim traveling to Irvine. Irvine won the first game between the two heated rivals, 2-0, but lost the second, 4-3, after a bitter controversy over an illegal pitching distance at Anaheim. Placentia goes to San Juan Capistrano Thursday, and Huntington Beach to Brea.

Glendale Humbles Anaheim Nine

Pitcher Bill Peterson drove in three runs with a triple, double and single, but yielded 10 bingles himself to enable the Perfection Bread company to defeat Lehr's Service of Anaheim, 7 to 5, at Glendale yesterday.

LARGEST JUNE CROWDS IN YEARS JAM COUNTY BEACHES

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

By O. K. MAXWELL
(Subbing for Gaines)

"Happy days are here again!" No, we're not thinking of the theme song of the donkey worshipers who made the Quaker City stay up late every night last week, but of the joy of living on the Orange county coastline during the good old summer time. Every time we venture away as far as Los Angeles, or even to Santa Ana, we get a thrill on the return trip by snuffing for that bracing breeze from the Pacific, which generally shows up just as we drop over the hill south of El Toro. From there on southward the mercury drops about one degree per mile.

No kidding, folks, it's 10 to 15 degrees cooler along the coastline than it is in the interior. If you don't believe me, just ask Sam Meyer of Newport, "Pete" Peterson of Lagune or Jim Farquhar of Huntington Beach. None of these guys should tell a lie—not even under the banner of chamber of commerce propaganda.

One of the impressive features of life in the old mission town of San Juan Capistrano is its freedom from intolerance of any kind. Everybody minds his own business—and maybe that's why we are classified as a "liberal" community. Founded by the Franciscan Fathers 160 years ago, the village has always been the home of a virile Catholic church; but for decades there has also been a very active Protestant church here, and the utmost harmony prevails between the two.

The parochial school maintained by the Mission is doing a splendid work. Its pupils meet the same scholastic standards as those of the public schools and its graduates are accredited to the high school. The excellent discipline maintained by the Sisters in charge of the Mission school is the subject of much favorable comment by local citizens and visitors alike. Incidentally, the maintenance of the Mission school relieves San Juan elementary school district of about one-half of its normal financial burden.

If the Mission school should be discontinued (which is among the possibilities), it would immediately be necessary for the San Juan district to virtually double the size of its school plant and teaching staff. On the theory that part of the Mission property is used for "commercial" or non-religious purposes, the county has been levying a heavy tax burden upon it. This tax burden has become quite onerous in recent years, so much so that Father Hutchinson and Manager Sheridan hesitate to inaugurate many needed improvements on account of the tax cost and the fear of further increases in assessed valuations.

In spite of pleas for a substantial reduction of the tax assessment, county authorities have thus far declined relief. Here is a chance for all our people to unite in judgment and common justice.

* * *

We'd like to print some of the "don't-you-remember" yarns we heard at the Pioneer picnic in Irvine park Sunday, but lack of space prevents. The old timers swapped reminiscences of early days in California while the younger generation recalled more recent events that happened "back home." Southern California is the most cosmopolitan area on the face of the earth, and it has been said that no matter who you may be looking for you will be sure to find him if you wait long enough at the corner of Seventh and Broadway in Los Angeles.

Though the Southland is populated chiefly by immigrants from other states and Native Sons are almost a rarity, a fellow is a "new-comer" in old San Juan until he has been here at least 21 years.

* * *

Now that the schools and colleges have closed and vacation time is really at hand, the influx of touring visitors has begun in earnest. Those whose business impels them to keep a check on motor traffic declare there are more out-of-state cars in Southern California now than at any time in several years.

Because the "Jewel of the Missions" is located here, San Juan has ten times as many visitors as its size and location otherwise would warrant. We have counted as many as 18 different state motor license plates on cars parked around the Mission in a single hour; and it is not unusual for 30 states or foreign countries to be represented here in a single day. One cheering thing indicated by the increase in travel is that times are getting better—whether it is because of or in spite of the policies of the New Deal (just take your choice).

* * *

Judge R. Y. Williams set a fine example in the promotion of harmony that might well be emulated by others of both political parties, when he asked Senator Nels T. Edwards to go to the Cleveland convention as his alternate. Though these two men generally see eye to eye on political affairs, they were pitted against each other in the Hoover-Landon contest, and the judge's invitation to his opponent was a smart gesture.

* * *

Speaking of harmony, and tolerance, and other noble attributes, it's going to take some tall thinking and patient maneuvering to preserve the political equilibrium in Orange county from now until November. With several times as many candidates as there are offices, and factions in each of the old parties as well as two or three side issues (like the Townsend movement), the fur may start flying 'most any time now.

MARCH FIELD CREW COMES TO BALBOA

No Fatalities Mar Day As Merchants Report Rushing Business

Lured by perfect weather and ideal beach conditions, the largest June crowd in several years jammed beaches from Malibu to San Clemente yesterday.

Orange county beach cities reported the best business and greatest crowds in years. No fatalities marred the day along the county strand, as lifeguards doubled their vigilance.

At Huntington Beach large crowds enjoyed surf sports and fishing, guards reported. There were no near drownings, although several "assists" were recorded at life-guard headquarters.

Balboa and Newport reported the city jammed with sight-seers and visitors attracted to harbor and ocean. Fishermen lined both the Newport and Balboa piers, and live bait boats and barges reported a record day's business.

Today more than 250 members of the ground crew of March Field, Riverside, descended on Balboa for their annual field day, which was featured by a number of acquatic and sports event among the men. They were led by officers from the March Field encampment. The program was outlined in cooperation with city officials of Newport Beach.

Laguna Beach merchants reported a rushing business yesterday. Realtors and hotel men said all accommodations over the week-end were snapped up by the huge crowd. At Capistrano the historic mission was thronged with visitors, and San Clemente reported crowds of visitors escaping the heat of inland cities.

20-30 MEMBER DRIVE OPENS

ORANGE.—Under the direction of Chairman Cliff Butler, a membership contest will be inaugurated by the Orange 20-30 club on July 8, it was announced today. S. B. Ward and Stanley Reamer will act as team captains.

Newly-elected officers of the club will be installed at the next meeting Wednesday night, when a ladies' night dinner will be a special feature.

They are: Don Gulledge, president; A. C. Myracle, vice president; Cliff Butler, sergeant-at-arms, and A. W. Ames, Don Parsons, Melvin Clement and Martin Nieweg, directors. V. G. Wolfe, secretary-treasurer, will serve six additional months in that capacity.

Illinois Visitors At Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH.—Mrs. Esther Rapp, connected with the Department of English, University of Illinios, and her son, William, now a student at the medical school of that institution, are spending a few weeks at 364 Cliff Drive, Laguna Beach.

Robert Jordan, well known Laguna Beach druggist, recently returned from a trip around the world, is in a Santa Ana hospital where he underwent a minor operation. He is a patient of Dr. A. H. Wrightman.

Mrs. Faith Pascal, connected with the Los Angeles city schools, is staying at 364 Cliff Drive.

Miss Ruth Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Benson, Laguna Beach, is spending a few weeks with relatievs and friends in Los Angeles and Lynwood.

Major Henry F. Schroeder, of Laguna Beach, an enthusiastic Waltonian, with a party of Los Angeles and Long Beach friends, will leave next Friday for Ensenada, Mexico, on a ten-day fishing trip.

Miss Ruth Herron, until recently connected with the Star-News of Pasadena, has joined the editorial staff of the South Coast News.

Laguna Artist to Visit Taos, N. M.

LAGUNA BEACH.—Winthrop Stark Davis, well known artist, and Mrs. Davis, of Laguna Beach, are leaving within a few days for the artist colony at Taos, N. M. There they will remain until fall, when their plans will take them to New York.

After spending a part of the winter in New York, the couple will come back west and make their future home in Arizona. Mrs. Davis, until her marriage a few months ago, was Mrs. Tessa Marin Chamberlain.

CLUB FINANCES WOMAN'S OLYMPIC TRIAL TRIP

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Her trip financed by a group of beach business men who formed a club for the purpose, Mrs. Anne O'Brien left last night for Providence, R. I., where she will compete in the finals for a position on the American women's Olympic team.

Mrs. O'Brien, like other athletes who competed in the meet for Far West Women's Olympic team places in Los Angeles Saturday, returned home very disappointed when she learned the Olympic committee in charge of the meet would be unable to finance the trip to the east coast finals.

The Huntington Beach woman placed a close second in the women's low hurdlles and in the 100-meter dash, entitling her to make the trip to Rhode Island.

When it was found that her expenses would not be defrayed by the Olympic committee a group of outstanding beach business men got together the necessary fund, each contributing $10. They called themselves the "Anne O'Brien club."

Among those contributing were Dr. Douglass Hough, Mayor Willis H. Warner, Councilman Lee Chamness, John T. Africa, John H. Marion, D. T. Tarbox, W. H. Gallienne, W. J. Bristol, Herbert A. Wood, J. S. Denny, the Huntington Beach Fire department, the Huntington Beach Police department, Dr. L. F. Whittaker, D. C. Terry, and the Windsor club of Huntington Beach.

Mrs. O'Brien, mother of a three-year-old daughter, has been running in track events since her high school days in Huntington Beach. She was a member of the 1928 Olympic team. She at one time was holder of two world's records for women.

COUPLE WED IN VILLA PARK

VILLA PARK.—At the ranch home of her parents, Miss Ruth Isabel Brubaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brubaker, was married to Reynold W. Heiser, son of Edward J. Heiser, Santa Ana, Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Only the immediate families witnessed the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. G. G. Schmid, pastor of the Evangelical church, Santa Ana.

The bride wore white marquisette over suede satin, and a tiara of white rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Marijane Brubaker was maid of honor, and wore a blue taffeta dress and carried pink sweet peas, pink roses and delphinium. Edward Heiser, jr., was best man. Music during the ceremony was played by Mrs. Claire Seely, San Diego, who also played the wedding marches and accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holzgrafe, Santa Ana, who sang, "At Dawning" and "Because."

The couple, who are on a honeymoon trip, will live in Santa Ana.

The bride was a teacher in the Fillmore schools last year, and graduated from Orange High school in 1930, and from Santa Barbara state college. Mr. Heiser attended the local schools.

Rites Held for Beach Residents

LAGUNA BEACH.—Funeral services were conducted here Friday for Mrs. Fannie Edwards Wheeler, 69, who died here Thursday following a brief illness. The deceased, who lived at 925 Temple Terrace, is survived by her son, Robert Wheeler, and two daughters. Interment was made at the Westminster Memorial park.

Funeral services also were conducted here and in Long Beach on Friday for William Leo Reynolds, 53, retired navy officer, who died at his home, 357 Holly street, Laguna Beach. A navy chaplain read the rites and interment was made at Long Beach. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Reynolds.

NAME SCHOOL SECRETARY

ORANGE.—Miss Eldene Watson, who graduated from Orange high school in 1935, has been chosen secretary to Carl I Thomas, newly appointed principal of the intermediate school, Orange. Miss Watson fills the position formerly held by Emily Seaman, who will teach the fifth grade in the Center street school next year.

STUDENTS TAKE OVER CHURCH

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Young people who have been attending the Christian church camp at Idylwild had charge of services at the church last night.

Ray Overacker had charge of the music, and May King led the devotions. Sylvia Coker gave a talk on the impressions of a new student to the camp, and Jean Kopple expressed the reaction of students who have attended the camp several years.

Clifford Overacker told of the recreations at the camp; Marjorie George described the prayer circle; Mary King, the evening services; Agnes Huff, stunt night; Evelyn Pate, the consecration, and Woodrow Honold, the graduation.

There were 146 first year students at the camp, 55 second year students, 28 third year, 8 fifth year, 1 sixth year and 1 seventh year. The local church had two five-year students. The Rev. and Mrs. Hurst accompanied the young people, who spent the week at the camp. The Rev. Hurst was one of the instructors at the camp school.

Orange Olympic Club Entertained

ORANGE.—The Olympic club met at the home of Mrs. Ella Simmermaker, Friday afternoon. During the afternoon it was revealed that the hostess was celebrating her birthday anniversary. Refreshments were served at one table centered with a large birthday cake. Those present were Mrs. Mable Lee, Mrs. Henrietta Prichard, Mrs. Margaret Tulene, Mrs. Ollie Kurtz and Mrs. Geraldine Hodson.

Fullerton Demos Meet Tomorrow

FULLERTON. — Young Democrats of this city will meet tomorrow night in the Oddfellows hall at 6:45, it was announced today by Secretary Golde Rayne. It will be a dinner meeting.

Democratic candidates for nomination to various offices will be invited to attend the session to give Democrats of the community a chance to become acquainted with the party candidates, Rayne said.

RETURNS TO ORANGE

ORANGE.—Mrs. J. C. Ulsh returned to Orange Saturday, after spending the past year visiting in Hiawatha, Kan. She is living at 124 West Almond street.

PATIOS BEACH CLUB TOPIC

LAGUNA BEACH.—J. E. Carpenter, landscape architect of Long Beach, was the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Laguna Beach Garden club, held Friday afternoon at Hotel Laguna.

Speaking on "Outdoor Living Rooms," Carpenter explained the beautiful effects obtainable by using flooring innovations; the use of flood lighting, and arrangement of furniture to harmonize with immediate surroundings. Mrs. Lillian S. DuSoe gave a report of business taken up at the state convention of Garden clubs, held recently in Piedmont, Calif., to which she was a delegate from Laguna Beach.

New members taken in at the meeting included Mrs. James Bagley, Mrs. Elizabeth Bonner, Edward J. Eberle and A. Thompson. Among guests were E. H. Libby, former editor of the Garden Club magazine, who was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Grace Vollmer, well known local artist. The club voted to extend an invitation to the state organization to hold its next annual meeting, scheduled for April, 1937, in Laguna Beach.

WATER BODY IN ANNUAL MEET

MIDWAY CITY.—The annual meeting of stockholders of the Midway City Mutual Water association was held in the Woman's clubhouse, Friday evening. J. A. Houlihan, secretary and treasurer, presented his annual financial statement and report on work accomplished for the fiscal year.

The present board of directors, N. A. Nelson, Harry Potts and J. A. Houlihan, were unanimously elected to serve the coming year.

The need of a new pipeline for the district was discussed by the stockholders. George L. Bates, sanitary engineer from Santa Ana, was introduced and addressed the association regarding the project. On a motion made by Dr. R. I. Johnson it was voted to give the board of directors authority to act for the organization.

LAGUNA BEACH GIRL QUEEN

LAGUNA BEACH.—Winning the title "Miss Southern California," Gracie Luckie, 17-year-old Laguna Beach beauty, yesterday was chosen queen of the Sun, Surf and Sand Days celebration at Long Beach.

Miss Luckie was winner of the recent "Miss Laguna Beach" contest. She will reveive a trip to the Golden Jubilee celebration at Vancouver, B. C., as guest of the United Air lines. The prize was presented by Miss Katharyn Rose, United Air lines stewardess.

Honorable mention in the event went to Lucille McNeil and Frances Bergey of Huntington Beach, among 10 Southland girls chosen for their beauty. Miss McNeil and Miss Bergey are candidates for the post of "Miss Huntington Beach," in connection with the Huntington Beach Fourth of July celebration.

FINISH PAVING ON JULY 10

ORANGE.—With the entire South Glassell street paving project slated for completion on July 10, motorists today were using the first strip of the re-surfaced downtown area, opened to traffic Saturday.

The east half of the first block on Glassell street was thrown open to use Saturday morning. The first layer of asphalt was being applied at the same time on a 20-foot strip around the Plaza. This was to be finished today, according to H. B. Lindley, resident engineer, and the pouring process on other streets will continue all next week.

One half of East Chapman avenue and North Glassell street will be resurfaced at a time, so that traffic will not be tied up during the work.

Missionary Club Installs Officers

ORANGE. — Newly elected officers of the Women's Home Missionary society of the Orange Methodist church were installed recently at the June meeting of the group.

Miss Cora B. Weetman, in charge of ceremonies, inducted into office Mrs. J. H. Bortz, re-elected president; Mrs. W. B. Nuckols, vice president; Mrs. J. W. Bomboy, treasurer; Mrs. Leslie Scriven, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank Batchelor, corresponding secretary; Miss Lulu Thornburg, secretary of junior work, and Miss Emma Corson, mite box secretary.

The society will not meet during July, it was decided. Mrs. Bomboy, who served as treasurer during the past year, disclosed in her annual report that the unit is closing the year with 102 paid-up members.

Laguna Beach Festival of Arts Plans Under Way

LAGUNA BEACH.—Modifications in the plans for locating the site of the 1936 Festival of Arts, so as to leave out Laguna avenue and make use only of El Paseo, were adopted at a director's meeting held Friday evening at the offices of Ropp and Mackey.

Objections on the part of certain property owners, coupled with expenses involved, were the reasons for making the change, it was reported. Under the new arrangement, the stage for the presentation of various program attractions will be built at the north end of El Paseo.

Serving on the newly organized committee on entertainment are Ed Eberle, chairman; Mrs. Annette Arnold, and Mrs. Lou Merritt. On the last day of the festival, Monday, Aug. 3, the program will be brought to a close with a carnival street dance, for which arrangements are being made.

B. M. Spencer, of Emerald Bay, chairman of the program committee, reported that his committee is working on a souvenir program, the cover design to be drawn by Mrs. Betty Repine, artist member of the committee. Serving on the committee with Spencer and Mrs. Repine is Mrs. Blanche Martin.

Mrs. Eleanor Boucker will head a committee on membership, in which connection an effort will be made to secure the renewal of all old memberships as well as add new names to the membership rolls.

WEDDING VOWS EXCHANGED

OCEANVIEW.—The marriage of Dorothy Helen Breeding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Breeding, to Avery C. Davis took place Friday evening, June 26, at the Methodist parsonage in Wintersburg, the Rev. Joseph H. Thompson officiating.

The bride wore a traveling ensemble of blue with white accessories. She was attended by a maid of honor, Betty Puckett, of Huntington Beach. Lee Brown, Long Beach, assisted as best man.

Attending the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Breeding, father and mother of the bride; Mrs. A. C. Davis, mother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Coy Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Breeding, Verne Breeding, Buster Davis, Peggy Hummer, Wilmington; Truman Ormsby, Hattie Harbison, Huntington Beach.

Following the ceremony the wedding party and guests were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Breeding, where refreshments of wedding cake and ice cream were served. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Davis will make their home at 703 Alabama street, Huntington Beach.

150 Enroll in Playground Course

ORANGE.—More than 150 children have enrolled in the Center street summer playground, operating under the supervision of the Orange city playground commission, it was announced today.

Verrill A. Townsend is acting as playground director during the summer session, which opened this week. A program of games and craft instruction is being given the youngsters daily by a staff of supervisors appointed through the federal recreation project operating under Miss Martha Steele, assistant director in Orange.

E. W. R. JARDINE RITES HELD

ORANGE.—Edward William R. Jardine, 64, died at St. Joseph's hospital Friday morning, after an illness of two months. He had been a patient at the hospital for one week. He was born in London, England, and had lived in Orange for eight years.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mardy Janet Jardine, 251 North Shaffer street; two daughters, Miss Dorothea Twining Jardine, Orange, and Mrs. Albert J. Amling, Santa Ana; one grandchild; two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Muriel Parsloe, Mrs. Dorcas Dyas and Percy Jardine, all living in England.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Trinity Episcopal church, with the Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Church of the Messiah, Santa Ana, officiating. Services were under the direction of the Gillogly funeral home, with burial in Fairhaven cemetery.

Beach Restaurant Changes Owners

LAGUNA BEACH.—Mrs. B. N. McNaugher, of Laguna Beach, today took over the management of Mad Hatter, one of the art colony's best known eating places, located on Laguna avenue, having purchased the same from Mrs. Winthrop Stark Davis, who until her marriage a few months ago was Mrs. Tessa Marin Chamberlain. During the six years Mrs. Davis operated the place, it was the rendezvous of the "Who's Who" in art and literature, and also became a favorite place for Hollywood celebrities and members of Southland society.

Joe Aguila, well known Southland chef, formerly connected with Boos Brothers in Los Angeles, Casa de Manana, will head the culinary department.

KAYAK CLUBS TO COMPETE IN NORTH

FULLERTON.—Members of the Fullerton Girl's Kayak club will compete in special races in connection with the fourth annual Semana Nautica celebration at Santa Barbara July 4, it was announced today.

The Kayak club has been invited to participate in the parade at 10 a. m., and in the racing and stunt events in the afternoon. Several races for girls are to be held, 400 to 1000 meters.

Members who are planning to make the trip include Grace Gleason, Meryl Miller, Frances Fogle, Rolene Eidson, Barbara Nye, Dorothea Brittain, Polly Potts and Billie Karnes for girls events.

The boys Kayak club also will make the journey to Santa Barbara, it was announced, and will compete in stunting and racing events. It has had signal success in events it has entered throughout the Southland.

Members of the boys club who will make the northern trek include Burton Sanders, Erwin Miller, Melvin Miller, Dave Miller, Leslie and Lester Clever, Robert Scott, Lee Renison, Ray Launer, Paul Moore, Leonard Little, Winfield and Rex Riggan, Glenn and Bobby Vaughan.

Birthday Party Held in Midway

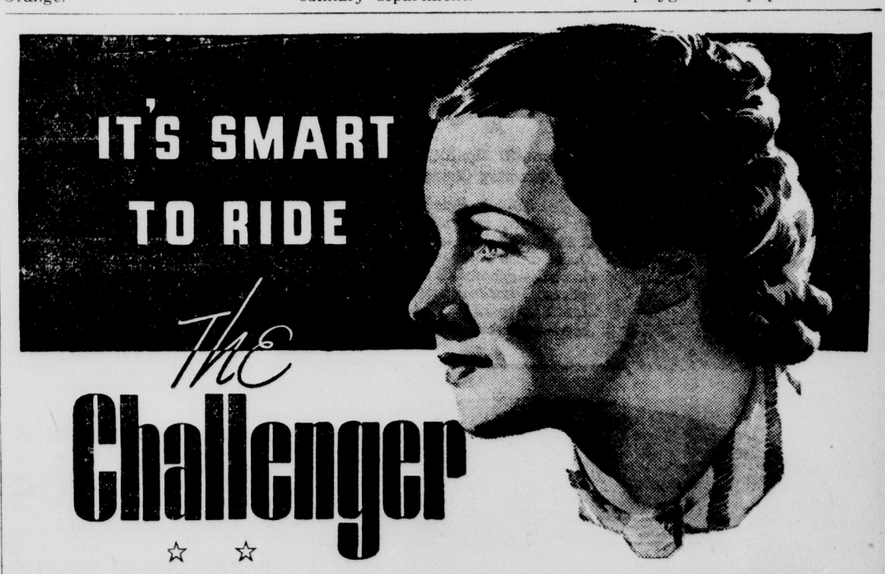

MIDWAY CITY.—Bobbie Lacy entertained eight of his friends, recently, at the home of his mother, Mrs. R. L. Lacy, on Monroe street, on the occasion of his fifth birthday. Games were played until the refreshment hour, which was featured by a candle-lighted birthday cake. Present were Ruth Meairs, Jeann Johnson, Billy Johnson, Robert Miller, Howard and Joan Arnett, and Thoburn Thompson and Bobbie Brown, Wintersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hazard and Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Marshall observed their wedding anniversaries with a dinner and theater party in Hollywood Thursday evening.

Costa Mesa Play Program Opens

COSTA MESA.—A federal recreation program for Costa Mesa opened this week, with three instructors in charge of activities. The sessions are being conducted on the Costa Mesa main school grounds, and are for both children and adults, according to the announcement.

Mrs. J. Myers and Elmer Clark will be in charge of the playground work, while children will be conducted on nature study trips by E. F. Shade. Croquet courts have been constructed to supplement the playground equipment.

SELF-HELP COOPERATIVES WILL HELP FEED CHILDREN AT CAMP

CHANEY PICKS TWO FORUM LEADERS

Names Allan Blaisdell And Prof. Kreps to Aid Project

Selection of the first two outstanding leaders for Orange county's federal forum project was announced today. The men are Allan Blaisdell, for the past nine years director of the International House at Berkeley, and Prof. Theodore John Kreps, professor of business economics at Stanford university.

To Name Others

The appointments were announced today by Homer Chaney, forum director, who returned yesterday from a trip to the San Francisco bay region to contact various groups in the interest of the forum. Several more appointments may be made by the end of the week, Chaney said. It is planned to have about six outstanding forum leaders for the project, which will start Sept. 1.

Blaisdell, 39 years of age, will be here from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15. He is a graduate of Pomona college and the Union Theological seminary.

Was NRA Chief

Prof. Kreps is 38 years old. He will be here throughout September. He is a graduate of the University of Colorado and Harvard university. He is ranking officer in the Institute of International Relations, which is holding a conference this week at Yosemite. During the life of the NRA he was chief of the statistical section of that agency at Washington, D. C.

These two men, and others to be selected, will lead forum meetings throughout the county four or five nights each week. The forum will bring outstanding speakers here for general meetings. Other smaller sessions will be held for group discussions. The project is one of 10 throughout the nation and is to be financed by the federal government.

Porches 'Rouged' By Salesmen

Visions of strikers, tramps, or maybe just too many detective stories make Santa Anans jittery. Chalk marks left on several porches last week by soap salesmen started it off.

Now the face-powder salesmen have taken it up, and, instead of marking "V" when they leave a sample, they use a "C." One of the "C's" was found Saturday night by L. A. Schlesinger, 417 South Birch street, who called police. Officers found a powder salesman had just marked the place for future reference.

Insures Wife Against Giving Birth to Twins

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Sylvan L. Orenstein is an insurance agent, so he naturally would think of taking out a policy, just in case.

His wife's mother once gave birth to twins and for fear multiple births are a family trait, Orenstein has insured himself for $1000 against his wife becoming the mother of more than one child next September.

If the stork brings a single addition to the Orenstein family, he will be out $46.53, the premium he paid Lloyds of London for the policy.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT: From Hyde Park to the White House — No. 1

Franklin Delano Roosevelt was born Jan. 30, 1882. His mother, shown here with her infant son, described him as "plump, pink and nice," and healthy despite the fact that too much chloroform at birth nearly killed them both.

Franklin's birth took place in the ancestral home of his aristocratic and wealthy family at Hyde Park, N. Y., 80 miles up the Hudson river from New York City. The house, shown above, still is counted as the family homestead. The house was built by Roosevelt's grandfather and it was on this beautiful Dutchess county estate that Roosevelt spent a normal, active youth, much of it in the company of his father, James Roosevelt.

Roosevelt's mother recalls that Franklin's early care probably would be considered very unscientific, measured by modern standards, but the picture of the child at two years old would indicate that it was most successful. It was just a year later that he got his first taste of the sea. Aboard the Germanic, two days out of Liverpool, a terrific storm opened seams of the ship, flooded boilers and cabins, almost caused a disaster.

The favorite niece of Theodore Roosevelt was also a favorite playmate of young Franklin, whose sixth cousin she was. Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, two years his junior, often was a visitor in the nursery at Hyde Park where the young Roosevelt used to trundle her about on his back. Seventeen years later, she became his wife.

ONE UNIT TO SELL BREAD AT COST

First Load of Campers Leaves Here Next Week for Rokili

Orange county's self-help cooperatives, by which 1700 persons are kept off relief rolls by producing and bartering the necessities of life, today stepped into the picture to help out several hundred underprivileegd youngsters who will camp this summer at Camp Rokili.

Bread for the deserving campers, who will be sent to Rokili by "good fellows" from Santa Ana, will be furnished at cost by the Los Alamitos unit of the cooperatives, Harrison White, county Boy Scout executive, said today.

"Initiate" Camp

The first load of youngsters will leave here a week from today for the coolness and fresh air of Rokili, in the San Bernardino mountains. There, through a plan worked out by the coordinating council, they will camp, hike and play under competent supervision.

The camp was being "initiated" for the summer today by approximately 60 members of county 4-H clubs, to whom camp facilities have been turned over by the Boy Scout council.

Donations Accepted

The number of youngsters given a chance at a week's outdoor camping depends on the amount of donations made to the council's fund. Leaders estimate $3 will keep a boy—or a girl, when the girls' camp begins July 13 at Camp Irvine—in camp for a week.

White is receiving donations for the fund at his office in the Spurgeon building.

Orange County Christian Endeavor society mixed quartet leads the state as the result the final contest with other county entrants held at the state convention Sunday at San Jose.

Members of the winning quartet are Ed and Paul Elsner, sons of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Elsner of 1212 West Sixth street and Katherine and Ellen Collins, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Collins of Anaheim. The group also placed first in the county and district semi-finals, and competed yesterday with San Jose, Bakersfield and Long Beach quartets.

REPORT 3500 OLD TIMERS AT PARK

Approximately 3500 old timers gathered at Irvine park yesterday for their annual reunion and picnic. They came from throughout the Southwest.

County Clerk J. M. Backs was reelected president of the organization, while Elmer Burns was reelected as secretary and treasurer.

It was reported that the register, on which the picnic guests sign, contained 50 new names today, representing persons who never had attended the affair before.

Information presented at the picnic showed that 358 old timers have passed away since July 1 of last year.

Thirteen of the Orange county old timers who have passed on achieved the Biblican span of four score and ten years, two of them passing the century mark.

Selso Rodriquez, 110, Anaheim, and Pete Ramcehl, 101, resident of Santa Ana, were the centeranians. Others who were 90 or older included James H. Brown, Tustin; Eliza J. Barrows, Fullerton; George C. Cornell, Newport Beach; Mary C. Campbell, Fullerton; Robert J. Fyffe, Orange; Samuel R. Gittens, Santa Ana; Mrs. Verrnis Togle, Elisha R. Murphy, Mrs. Clarence Morrison and Mrs. Luther Warner, Santa Ana.

The only talk made was one by Robert Scott of Belfast Ireland, a member of parliament, who was attending the picnic with Fullerton friends. Scott said he was deeply interested in the picnic.

The major portion of the day was spent by the old timers in meeting friends and recalling experiences of the early days. They gather each year at Irvine park for this purpose.

Stores to Open On Friday Night

Santa Ana store and office workers may be out with the boys and girls Saturday morning, popping firecrackers and devil-chasers if they wish, for all downtown stores are to be closed for the day, in celebration of the Fourth of July.

Normal Saturday hours will be observed on Friday, stores remaining open until 9 p. m. to permit shopping prior to the holiday.

Local History Told in Verse

(Believing that new interest will attach to early events in Orange county history through their presentation in verse, The Journal is publishing a series of poems by Robert Gardner of Orange, telling of these incidents.—Editor.)

SERRITO DE LAS RANAS
(Hill of the Frogs)

The carretas,
Loaded with hides and tallow,
On their way
To the Embarcadero
At San Juan Capistrano,
Passed by the hill.
(Serrito de las Ranas)
The hill was red.
(It still is crimson)
The hides were bound
To fill the holds
Of Yankee ships.

Long, long ago,
When Spanish Dons
Surveyed the land,
The crimson hill,
(Serrito de las Ranas),
Was where they tied
Imaginary lines,
To separate
Their Spanish grants.

POST SERVICES TOMORROW

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow for Elmer Post, 24-year-old Bolsa man killed Friday when the truck he was driving got beyond control on the Ridge route highway and crashed into a hillside.

Associated Press reports said that Post's truck attained a speed of approximately 80 miles an hour before the crash, which occurred approximately 30 miles south of Bakersfield.

Post was associated with his brothers, N. R. Post and G. R. Post in a tractor service company. He had one of the tractors loaded on his truck at the time of the accident.

His wife, Mrs. Vivian Post, is still in a Bakersfield hospital, suffering from injuries sustained in the accident that caused her husband's death a few hours after the crash.

Friends in the Santa Ana Elks lodge, neighbors and business associates will be pall bearers. Surviving members of the family are his wife, his two brothers, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Post, Bolsa; and four sisters, Mrs. S. S. Sutton, Long Beach; Mrs. Willard Vance, Bellflower; Mrs. George L. Rainey and Miss Katherine Post, Bolsa.

Needles to Fly At Summer Class

Santa Ana women interested in learning more about sewing will have their opportunity Tuesday afternoon, when a summer sewing class under supervision of Mrs. Blanche Palmer will be started.

First session will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Lathrop Junior High school. Sponsored by the evening high school, the classes will be held each Tuesday and Wednesday at the same hour.

No enrollment fee will be charged, but each woman will be expected to furnish her own materials. Other summer classes may be started within a few weeks, W. W. Wieman, principal of the Lathrop Evening High school, announced.

ORANGES STOLEN

Arrested when Mrs. A. F. Mills reported he was stealing oranges from her ranch on Verano road, Charles Blacholder, 53, was brought to the county jail and booked on a petty theft charge yesterday by sheriff's officers.

HAILE SPEAKS TO LEAGUE TUESDAY

GENEVA. (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie's spokesmen announced today the conquered Negus personally would address the League of Nations assembly in an eleventh-hour appeal for "justice."

The assembly will meet at 5 p. m. tomorrow in Geneva's municipal auditorium. Selassie's appeal will be delivered in French.

Speedy funeral services, with a minimum of oratory, were planned for the anti-Italian sanctions. But the question which agitated statesmen was whether the assembly would indorse the doctrine of nonrecognition of territory acquired by force.

Such action would at least imply disapproval of Italy's annexation of Ethiopia.

CHILDREN FILL PLAYGROUNDS

Hundreds of Santa Ana kids were made happy today as summer playgrounds, under joint sponsorship of the county schools office, the city school system and WPA, opened at 9:30 a. m.

With Norman Paul in charge of arrangements in Santa Ana, supervisors registered children at nine playgrounds here and organized games. Further scores of children flocked to the high school plunge to open the summer acquatic season.

Playgrounds are operated at the Santa Ana bowl, Willard and Lathrop Junior High schools, Fremont, Delhi and Logan Mexican schools, and at Lowell, Franklin and Lincoln elementary schools. Beginning schedule was 9:30 a. m. to 12 m. and from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. This is subject to revision later this week.

Because so many will be absent from the city July 4, playgrounds will be closed on that day, it was announced.

Junior Unit for Toastmasters

Plans for a Junior Toastmasters club are now under way at the Y. M. C. A., according to word from the secretary's office today. All men under 25 years of age are invited to attend the organization meeting to be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening at the Y. M. C. A.

There have been many requests for such an organization that will offer younger men a chance for training and practice in public speech. R. C. Smedley founded the Toastmasters club, which now has many branches in various parts of the world.

Find Rattlesnake In Frog's Tummy

BUTTE CITY, Calif. (AP)—A frog in the swamps along the Sacramento river near here has made news.

William Alwart of Butte City and his mother are authority for the story that while hunting frogs near here they speared one that attracted their attention because it was so large.

When they dissected their catch, they found a 15-inch rattlesnake with two rattles and a button in the frog's tummy.

NOMINEE OF DRYS TO FIGHT F. D. R. AND LANDON

CHICAGO. (AP)—D. Leigh Colvin, the Prohibition party's candidate for president, declared he would attack Gov. Alf M. Landon as well as President Roosevelt in his fall campaign. Colvin charged that Governor Landon's home state, Kansas—" the premier dry state," Colvin called it—had become wet during the Landon administration. "There's a startling amount of liquor there," he asserted in an interview. More than at any time since 1880." That was the year Kansas voted constitutional prohibition.

White Summer Flowers and Greenery Form Background for Sunday Nuptials

Girl Graduate Becomes Bride on Sunday

Wearing a formal wedding gown of white satin and standing before the fireplace banked with potted palms and other greenery, Miss Ruth Frandson, attractive young daughter of Dr. E. C. Frandson and Mrs. Frandson of 2003 North Ross street, made a beautiful bride yesterday when she was united in marriage with Dr. Bard R. Daughters of Salinas, Calif.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. George Warmer, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, with candlelight forming the only illumination during the service.

Carrying out a white and green note throughout the house were large bouquets of white larkspur and greenery and a myriad of tall, white burning tapers.

Before the ceremony, Miss Ruth Greenwald, who played the wedding march, accompanied Miss Anne Wetherall in the singing of "I Love You Truly."

With the strains of the bridal chorus, the bride's sister, Miss La Vonne Frandson, preceded the bride into the room, wearing an apple green taffeta frock overlaid with silk net, with a net hat in the same shade, and carrying a shower bouquet of Talisman roses.

The dress of the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was made long and with a slight train, long full sleeves, and a fingertip length veil fitted to her head in a halo effect. Her bouquet was an exquisite shower of gardenias, orchids and lilies of the valley made into a crescent arrangement.

Her only piece of jewelry was a lovely watch, the gift of the bridegroom, and she carried as her "something old" a point lace handkerchief loaned for the occasion by the bridegroom's mother, who had carried it at her own wedding.

Stanley Burchell of Salinas attended Dr. Daughters as his best man.

Twenty-five relatives and close friends of the bride and groom attended the wedding, and 50 friends of the two families were present at the reception held between 6 and 7 o'clock, also at the Frandson home.

The two mothers assisted in receiving the guests, the bride's mother wearing a pink crepe with a gardenia corsage, and Mrs. Daughters a blue lace with the same type of flowers.

Friends of the bride who assisted in serving at the reception, all in formals in pastel colors, were Miss Virginia Pritchard, Miss Carolyn Davis, Miss Geraldine Gilbert, Miss Ruth Greenwald, and Miss Anne Wetherall.

The dining room was also decorated in a pretty white and green motif, the bride's table spread with an embroidered banquet cloth and graced by white flowers, tall white tapers in silver candlesticks and a beautiful tiered wedding cake.

The bride cut the first piece before changing to her tailored going away suit of gray and departing with her new husband for a honeymoon trip to an unannounced destination. Pink and navy accessories and an orchid from her wedding bouquet completed her smart costume.

After the trip, the couple will be at home at 54 Geil street in Salinas, where Dr. Daughters is an optometrist.

Mrs. Daughters, the young bride, was graduated just a week ago from Santa Ana High school, receiving the Alpha award for being the most representative girl in her class. She was a member of the Entre Nous, Ebell and Alpha clubs.

Dr. Daughters, son of Dr. M. R. Daughters and Mrs. Daughters of 2041 North Ross street, Santa Ana, was educated at the University of Cincinnati and the Northern Illinois College of Optometry. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity and Omega Delta professional, and of the Rotary club of Salinas.

Guests at the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Bower, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Stringer of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Burchell of Salinas, Mrs. Jennie Garner, Mrs. Lulu Blackburn, the Misses Ruth Greenwald, Carolyn Davis, Virginia Pritchard, Anne Wetherall, Dr. and Mrs. George Warmer, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hansen and Margaret and Rolland Hansen, Bert Young of Salinas, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Burchill of Salinas, Prof. Freeman Daughters of Missoula, Mont., Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bednor and James Bryce, and Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Powers of Corvallis, Ore.

Others joining them for the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scholtz, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cave of Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Budd and daughter, Ruth, Mrs. A. Carhart, Mrs. Elenore Engelke and daughter, Muriel, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Harris and Maurine, Joy, and Wayne Harris, Mr. and Mrs. A. Schmidt and family of San Marino, Muryl Hallman, Mrs. Emily Munro and Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henderson and Mary, Miss Betty Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Segerstrom, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Pritchard, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lasby, Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Earel, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. E. Stump, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hull, Mrs. Becker, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Greenwald, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Wetherall.

Sometimes as my fingers slip
from bead to bead as on a rosary
I find a rare pearl.

This one is by Beatrice West Borst, Fullerton, Calif.

RETURN

When I return,
I shall go unadorned and unperfumed,
So that I can slip into the old-time places,
Gently,
And smell the freshness of dew in the morning,
And of dust settled by summer rain,
And of cows at milking time,
And of ginger and cloves in the farmhouse kitchen;
So that I may hear songs
Of birds almost forgotten;
And the hum of bees at swarming time;
And the rustle of leaves falling.
I shall lie close to the warm earth, and listen
To the sounds in the grass.
And I shall open growing ears of corn
To smell the sweetness of the silk.
I shall burrow in pine needles.

All these things shall be for me
A flagon of joy.
Which I drink eagerly
To the last drop.

WOMAN'S CLUB SECTIONS CLOSE YEAR

Two more sections of the Woman's club of Santa Ana closed their year during the past week, the garden section with a meeting Thursday at the F. A. Martin home 414 South Parton, and the social section at a party at the J. D. Watkins some at Balboa earlier in the week.

Mrs. James McCracken was elected new leader of the garden section, with Mrs. Charles Hoehn as secretary.

On June 30, Mrs. McCracken and a committee appointed for the purpose will confer with a similar group in Orange in regard to the county flower show next September. Serving on this committee with Mrs. McCracken are the Mesdames E. M. Waycott, E. A. Elwell, and G. N. Coon.

Much regret was expressed at the news that Mrs. Verna Short, another member, was moving to Oregon.

The social section met in the patio of the Balboa island home of Mrs. J. D. Watkins on Tuesday for a pot-luck luncheon which was served out under bright-colored umbrellas.

During a short business meeting, the following new section leaders were installed: Mrs. R. C. Walters, leader of the afternoon parties, and Mrs. Margaret Ahearn, secretary; Mrs. L. Witty, leader of the evening parties, and Mrs. L. G. Holman, secretary, and Mrs. R. J. Pagett, treasurer.

Bridge, anagrams, and monopoly were played by some during the afternoon, others enjoying a dip into the cool waters of the bay which laps at the front door of the watkins home.

This was the last of the series of parties planned during the year by Mrs. Watkins, who has been leader of the section. During the summer months Mrs. Witty is planning some picnic suppers and beach parties, dates of which will be announced later.

GRANDDAUGHTER HERE ON VISIT

Miss Jeanne Wiesseman, young daughter of the Carl Wiessemans of Whittier, former residents of Santa Ana, has been a guest in the home of her grandmother, Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman, 527 West Nineteenth street, and with her young cousins in the William J. Stauffer home, 2021 North Ross street.

On Sunday, the Stauffers took Jeanne to Camp Osceola to see Billy Stauffer, who is one of the campers.

When Jeanne returns to Whittier, she will take Robbie Stauffer back with her for a visit.

REYERS HOSTS AT HOUSE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Reyer of 2324 North Broadway entertained as their week-end guests Dr. Garrett Ruth and Mrs. Ruth and two daughters, Katherine and Alice, Dr. J. W. Brady and Mrs. Brady and Dr. Sydney Bowles, all of Hollywood.

Arriving Friday, the men went on a deep-sea fishing cruise Saturday with Mr. Reyer, while the women of the party enjoyed a drive around Santa Ana and the surrounding country with their hostess.

Yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Reyer entertained at a dinner party in their home, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Stone, their daughter and son-in-law, and their two children, Freddie and Joan, joining in the group.

LIBRARIANS GO TO SCHOOL

Three members of the Santa Ana public library staff enrolled at U. C. L. A. summer session today for the seven-week library course, which is open only to graduate students with high standards of scholarship in their last two years of college.

Two subjects are being offered in the course this year, one taught by Sydney Mitchell, director of the library school at the University of California in the regular session, and the other by Miss Helen Haines of Pasadena, formerly with the Los Angeles public library and the University of California library. The latter is the author of an interesting recent publication, "Living with Books."

GRADUATE GIVEN PARTY

Bill Keeton, recent high school graduate, demonstrated his complete recovery to health at a party given to him Friday by his mother, Mrs. William H. Keeton, 411 West Camille street.

The evening was spent in playing monopoly and dancing. Refreshments were served about 11 p. m.

Those present were the Misses Frances Couvillon, Gloria Kirchner, Dorothy Skinner, and Anne Wetherell; Bill Keeton, Don Kennedy, Phillip Dowds and Edward Velarde.

INVITATIONS ARE ISSUED

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Julius Gruettner of 905 Oak street have issued invitations for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Harriet Mary Gruettner, to Remington Allen Mills of San Pedro.

The ceremony will take place at 5 o'clock in the afternoon of July 5 in the Church of our Saviour in San Gabriel.

TO BE MARRIED AT LAGUNA

St. Mary's Episcopal church in Laguna Beach will be the setting Friday for the wedding of Miss Mary Gavin of Alhambra and John H. Ainley of Monrovia. The Rev. Mr. Robert M. Hogarth, rector of the parish, will officiate.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Monrovia High school, and are well known in the art colony's younger set.

Home Rites Performed Sunday

In a quiet ceremony Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Powell, in Orange, Miss Cora Alice Powell was united in marriage with Oswald Carl Ulrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ulrich of the same town.

The bride wore an attractive white sport suit of bolero cloth, with white accessories and a white hat with nose veil. Her corsage was of gardenias and pink rosebuds, and she carried a lace handkerchief sent to her from France by her uncle, H. T. Sale of Springfield, O., who is a visitor in Orange this spring.

Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the Orange Presbyterian church, heard the marriage vows of the couple before an altar made of greenery and pastel-colored flowers. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was unattended.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home for 80 guests, the bride cutting a large wedding cake at the beautifully decorated dining room table. During the reception, Miss Elizabeth Lowry sang "I Love You Truly" and "Love Poem," accompanied by Miss Miriam Powell, a sister of the bride.

Assisting in serving the guests were the Misses Alice Stoner and Hettie Arends of El Modena, Miss Dixie Rose of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Herbert Ramm of Anaheim.

Later in the day, the couple left for a honeymoon trip to an unrevealed destination, and will be at home next week in Santa Ana.

The bride is a graduate of Orange High school, class of 1933, and was a member of this year's graduating class at Santa Ana Junior college. Mr. Ulrich, who received his education in the Anaheim and Fullerton schools, is a marine engineer.

GROUP VISITS LOVELY GARDENS

Mrs. Gladys Ashby, supervisor of Orange county historical research for the WPA, took a number of the workers in her department to the botanical gardens on the Bixby rancho in Santa Ana canyon Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Ashby's group was fortunate in having found a day when there were few other visitors, so that the almost undivided attention of Dr. Wolff, in charge of the herberium, and of his assistant, Mr. Edwards, was given them in the study of the flora, shrubs and trees indigenous to Orange county.

Before leaving the rancho, the group drove over the new scenic road which Mrs. Bryant, who is well known for her deep interest in wild flowers and typical California plants, has built to the top of the mountains, finding the view from them indescribably beautiful.

GOES EAST WITH UNCLE

William Simmons of New York City, who has been the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Simmons of 1506 West Second street, started his homeward journey Sunday by automobile, taking with him as his guest his niece, Mrs. Frances Lacy, an employe of the Santa Ana bookstore.

After a visit in Chicago and New York City, he will take Mrs. Lacy on a trip to Washington, D. C., and through the New England states, then returning to New York where Mrs. Lacy will take the train for Santa Ana.

EBELL MEMBERS AT DEL MAR MEET

Taking an active part in the recent southern district summer conference of Ebell clubs, held in Del Mar last week, were four members of Santa Ana Ebell club, including its president, Mrs. F. C. Rowland of South McClay, Santa Ana.

Others attending from the local club were Mrs. E. D. White of 2115 North Broadway, district chairman of Junior Ebell clubs; Mrs. Edith Cloyes of 622 South Van Ness, and Mrs. C. M. Deakins, district chairman of gardens.

YEARLY PICNIC ATTRACTS 100

Anaheim city park was the gathering point for nearly 100 members of the First Presbyterian church Thursday evening, when the Women's Aid society sponsored its annual summer picnic for all parishioners.

Mrs. A. J. Beckman presided at the women's organization board meeting at 5 o'clock, preceding the picnic dinner. Plans were made to open the winter series of meetings with a September luncheon. No meetings will be held during July and August.

RELATIVES HERE FROM CHICAGO

Robert Tannenbaum of 2407 Poinsettia street has returned home for a summer visit with his family, following the close of the term at the University of Chicago, where he is a student. Accompanying him home were his mother's sister, Mrs. Lawrence Cohn, and his cousins, Miss Fritzi and LeRoy Wald, all of Chicago. The young people will spend the summer at the Tannenbaum home.

Engagement Told at Party

"Lois and Dick are engaged."

That was the message found on the place cards by guests of Miss Lois Reeves when she entertained a group of friends at a bridge party last Thursday night at the home of her mother, Mrs. Roy Donaldson, on South street, Anaheim.

The announcement, made during the serving of refreshments, revealed the betrothal of the hostess to Richard Swank, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Swank of Fullerton.

Prizes in the evening's bridge games were awarded at the close of the playing to Miss Jane Crawford, Mrs. Duane Armstrong, and Miss Leona Shell, and refreshments were served at the card tables.

Guests invited to hear the news included Mrs. L. W. Hemphill of Tustin; Mrs. A. S. Swank, Fullerton; Mrs. Clara Fitschen, Mrs. Jesse Stanfield, Mrs. Duane Armstrong, Mrs. Robert Paulus, Miss Rosalie Smith, Miss Jane Crawford, Miss Eleanor Bowyer, Miss Leona Shell, Miss Helen Volberding, and Miss Eleanor Flintham, Orange; Mrs. Hubert Howell, Mrs. Leason Pomeroy, jr., Anaheim, and Miss Marion Hawk, Miss Grace Robertson, and Mrs. Elmer Amling, Santa Ana.

The bride-to-be was graduated from Orange High school, class of 1933, and from Fullerton Junior college, and during the past year has attended U. C. L. A. Mr. Swank was graduated from Fullerton High school and attended Fullerton Junior college and the University of Redlands.

VISITORS AT MILES HOME

Guests at the G. W. Miles home at 2425 Poinsettia street for two weeks are Mr. Irv Morris and son, Jimmie, of Hamilton City, Calif., who returned home with Mr. and Mrs. Miles at the end of their vacation trip in the north.

Mrs. Morris is the wife of the superintendent of the Hamilton City sugar mill, where George Miles, jr., son of the Santa Anans, has a position. Mr. and Mrs. Miles included in their vacation trip Stanford university at Palto Alto, where they attended their son's graduation, and then took him to Clear Lake for a short stay and up to Hamilton City, where he remained.

Several informal parties are marking the stay of the northern visitors. Yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Miles invited Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Monroe as dinner guests and to meet their house guests, and on Saturday evening the Miles and Morrises and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Anderson of Huntington Beach enjoyed a steak bake at Orange county park.

TOROSA HEADS TO BE INSTALLED

Open installation rites for officers of Torosa Rebekah lodge will be held July 9 in I. O. O. F. hall, following completion of plans for the ceremony at lodge meeting last week.

Miss Nora Edwards, district deputy president, and Mrs. Eva Harris, marshal, will lead the installing staff, from Ruby lodge, Orange. The Torosa installation will be the first conducted in the district for this year.

Following the lodge session, a public card party was held under sponsorship of the past noble grands, assisted by Mrs. Laura Tramel and Mrs. Eleanor Pickle.

Among score award winners were Mesdames Lydia Phipps and Mabel Noonan, 500; Minnie Tucker and Irene Lancaster, pinochle.

SISTERS TAKE OUT LICENSES

Marriage licenses were issued today to Virgil Clapp of Calimesa, Cal., and Gladys M. Franz of Anaheim, and to Arthur M. Hoel, Phoenix, and Thelma B. Franz, Anaheim, according to an Associated Press dispatch received today.

The Misses Franz are daughters of Mrs. Mary Franz of 520 North Vine street, Anaheim, and have made their home there for a number of years, both attending the schools in that town.

HERMOSA O. E. S. PICNIC SLATED

Members of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S., and their families will assemble at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening in Irvine park for a picnic supper and games.

Coffee and dessert will be furnished by the chapter committee. Each family is to bring table service and the main part of the meal.

Are Memories of Love Basis Enough for Marriage After Five-Year Separation?

By MARY STODDARD

Will a love that subsisted on memories for five years continue, or will it dissolve like old paper exposed to air, when this couple tests it in the laboratory of marriage? Only the two involved can tell whether they are basically the same persons that they were when a quarrel terminated their engagement. Are they so much the same that another quarrel, equally violent, could take place?

Dear Miss Stoddard: All through high school and college I went with the same girl. We thought we were in love, and planned to get married after graduating, but a week before commencement we quarreled, and both departed from college with the intention of never seeing each other again.

I returned to our home town and took up work here, and she went to another city to live. That was five years ago, and during all that time, we never saw or heard from each other. Needless to say, I missed her terribly, and though I tried to go out with other girls, they did not seem to interest me.

One month ago she returned to this city, and at the first glimpse of each other, we realized that the feeling had never died. Our quarrel seemed very trivial, and we became engaged again.

But I am wondering now if we will be as happy together as we would have before we quarreled. Are we still the same as we were before, or might we have changed, so that we will find later on that we are not really in love, but have only memories of a love? Are we right in getting married so soon after our reunion?

WONDERING.

In five years, you should both have seen enough of other people to know what you want. You should have learned to avoid quarreling, even when you disagree.

If you still have as much in common as you formerly had, go ahead. In eight years of schooling you probably learned more of each other's characters than you will ever know about anyone else.

DISTRICT M. E. MISSIONARY MEET HELD

Spurgeon Memorial church was the meeting place Friday of approximately 50 representatives of missionary societies in the southern district of the Methodist church, South. Mrs. C. M. Aker presided at sessions attended by women from Anaheim, Greenville, Long Beach, San Diego and Santa Ana.

Work of the Santa Ana auxiliary was outlined by Mrs. Alison Honer, following opening song service. The topic for the day, "Building the Kingdom Through the Missionary Society," was developed through talks by members, who told of cooperating agencies in the work.

Mrs. Max Temple spoke on the value of a Christian home; Mrs. Mayhew, Long Beach, on the local church; Mrs. Boldrick, San Diego, on work among foreigners.

The Rev. Mr. Decker, Long Beach, discussed the heritage of Methodism.

Afternoon sessions were opened with devotions conducted by Mrs. Knott, Greenville. Ernest Thacker told of the Isle of Pines, its people, industry and religion. Mr. Thacker is the son of Mrs. Joseph Thacker and brother of Mrs. Carl Stewart, missionaries on the island. He plans to join his relatives there for summer work among the natives.

Round table discussions touched upon plans for a unified Sunday school program on missionary day, and upon activity auxiliaries. Praise was given to Miss Bailey, San Diego, for her work among the blind.

The Misses Mildred Goodwin and Alice Upson, accompanied by Mrs. Scharm, sang a duet. Mrs. Scharm also played for a solo by Mrs. Irma Baxter. Next district meeting was announced for September. It will be held in Long Beach.

TWO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Dr. Mary Kraft of Montebello has been spending several days in Santa Ana as the guest of Mrs. Caroline Y. Barnett, 1201 North Sycamore.

On Thursday, the two attended a WPA conference for recreation leaders at Huntington Beach. The entire group visited the playground during the day, getting data for use in recreation work, Mrs. Barnett being a recreation leader in this city. During the afternoon, a homing pigeon was released to fly back to Santa Ana.

EPISCOPALIANS SEW FOR NEEDY

Continuing their work for needy Santa Ana families, members of the welfare branch of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah met Friday at the home of Mrs. S. P. Freeman, 1418 Durant street.

Tea and cakes were served during the afternoon by the hostess, who is chairman of the group. Unless an urgent need arises during the summer, she will not call another meeting until September, Mrs. Freeman said.

AT FOREST HOME

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Carruthers, their two children, Wayne and Bobby Anne, and Mrs. Maude Swarthout, left Saturday for Forrest Home, where they plan to stay for two weeks.

FAREWELL PARTY HONORS MRS. MARY ROWLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson of Panorama Heights gave a buffet porch supper Saturday night, honoring Mrs. Mary Rowley of 202 East Tenth street, who is leaving soon for a trip to Alaska under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society conducted by Howard Brown.

The Herbert Rankin family of 2106 North Main street, Mrs. Margaret Suddaby of Lemon Heights, and others from Orange will be in the party. They go by train to Seattle, and will sail from there on the S.S. Prince Rupert July 6 and go by the inland passage to Skagway.

Guests invited to meet Mrs. Rowley were Mr. Soest and Mrs. Grace Parker Soest from Los Angeles, and Mrs. Carolyn Harris Thompson of 715 Bush street, Santa Ana, cousins of Mrs. Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Hatzfeld of 720 D street, Tustin, Mr. Wilson's aunt and uncle.

DRAGON INSPIRES GOWN

Fay Wray has just returned from her vacation with a trunkful of new clothes. Among them is a draped chiffon evening gown of turquoise blue girdled by a belt of matching leather on which is appliqued a chinese dragon in shades of gold, red and green leather. Miss Wray wears a deep violet moire full-length coat.

White Shrine Compliments Mrs. Henry

Mrs. Sue Henry, recently appointed supreme deputy worthy high priestess of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, was honored Friday evening at meeting of Damascus White Shrine No. 13, meeting in Masonic temple.

She was accorded escort honored with Walter J. Combellack, supreme associate watchman of shepherds and member of Calvary Shrine, Long Beach; Mrs. Bertha Mueller, and other supreme honorary officials and past worthy high priestesses and watchmen of shepherds.

Mrs. Augusta Wisenan read a poem written and dedicated to Mrs. Henry by Mrs. Helen Aubin. Members of Mrs. Henry's committee presented her with a floral tribute. A number of out-of-town members of the order were present and were introduced from the sidelines.

Mrs. W. B. McConnell and Neal Beisel presided during business session and initiatory rites for three new members, Beulah Brightwell, Hazel Paquette and Marian Valley.

Emblematic of the "voyage" being started by Mrs. Henry in taking her new duties, a miniature ship and anchor were used to decorate the table where refreshments were served by Mrs. Henry and her committee.

Next meeting of the organization, scheduled for July 10, will be preceded by a pot-luck supper in Masonic temple.

DRILL TEAM TO ESCORT COUNCIL

Planning to continue regular drill meetings during the summer, members of the American Legion auxiliary drill team held its monthly social and business session Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Clay Minnix, 530 South Garnsey street.

The group accepted an invitation to serve as escort to the Legion auxiliaries' county council at a meeting in Huntington Beach, July 19. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames Evelyn Imhoff and Mae Lindegard.

Others present were Mesdames Ruth Anderson, Grace Carnahan, Rosann Hardcastle, Ida McCarty, Frances Sullivan, Sue Featherly, Lucille Sullivan, Irene Pierce and Alta Marsile.

MAKING POINSETTIAS LAST

The stems of poinsettias and other flowers with juicy or milky stems should be sealed before they are placed in water. Hold the ends of the stems over a flame for a second or two or, if you like, immerse in boiling water for two minutes. Then place in vase of cold water.

Pyorrhea Should Be Prevented

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M. D.

Our ears have been assailed from all sides, during the last few years, by the words, "focal infection." Well, focal infections deserve all that has been said of them. The best known of these are sick tonsils and diseased teeth and gums.

Alveolar abscess, or pyorrhea, is the principal source of infections in the mouth. The alveolar process is that part of the bone of the jaw that forms the tooth socket. It is surrounded by a well of tissue called the periodental membrane, which separates the tooth from the bony socket.

An alveolar abscess forms between the layers of this membrane and sets up an infection. This is usually the result of tooth decay and destruction of the tooth pulp. This infection, following up the root, may come to a point in the side of the gum and cause a "gum boil." Opening the boil will give relief from the pain but it still means an abscess at the root and continued infection. The infection separates the membrane from the bone with some destruction of bone and pyorrhea develops.

The symptoms are characteristic. The gum is swollen and pulled away from the neck of the tooth so that the tooth looks longer than normal. Usually there is a purulent dicharge from between the tooth and the gum. There is some pain, especially on exposure to cold or after drinking hot liquids or eating acid foods. The disease gradually progresses, spreads to other teeth; the gum pulls away, and the bony socket decays until the tooth falls out.

Efforts to cure have not accomplished much. The disease, once established, slowly but surely advances. The most that we have accomplished has been toward prevention. The old practice of killing the nerve and filling the cavity left a dead tooth in the socket and encouraged abscess. Now a dead tooth is recognized as a menance, and is taken out as soon as possible.

Care in the selection of diet and a growing understanding of the value and use of vitamins has gone far to preserve the teeth and thus prevent decay and infection.

Beauty Needs Care

By JACQUELINE HUNT

We beauty editors write so much about how to overcome blemishes and other beauty ills that a visitor from another planet might get the notion that we have no really pretty girls. Fortunately this is not true.

There are thousands of girls who are bright, lively and attractive. They have perfectly normal skins on which they use nothing more than a cleansing agent, rouge and powder for make-up and a few "extras" for parties. They have nice hair; shampoo it themselves and set the waves and possibly have a finger wave for special occasions. Their figures are slendor and graceful.

If you belong to this group spend a little time each week to keep yourself young, pretty and enviable.

Take time once a week for a massage with a good softening cream or cold cream.

Wash your face first with soap and water, rinse well and pat dry. While it is still slightly moist and warm, apply the cream, beginning low at the base of the throat and working with upward and outward strokes or rotary movements. Apply cream around the eyes and massage with a light, swift touch, encircling them ten to twenty times.

When your skin is warm and pink, wipe off the excess oil. You do not want any unneeded cream or any other preparation to stay on your skin to interfere with the normal action of the pores. Use a skin freshener or pure cold water to close the pores and remove every trace of the cream.

Give your hair an extra dozen strokes when you brush it at night. Once a week, massage the scalp for five minutes. Shampoo as often as you need it.

Your hands get their beauty care several times a day. Use hand lotion freely and a good hand cream before you go to bed if you need it.

You slender, lively girls do not know how fortunate you are to possess such sylph-like figures. If you can go in for sports like tennis, swimming or riding, then your exercise is automatically taken care of.

If you haven't much time for these things, however, you should make it a practice to walk two miles daily. It puts a brighter sparkle in your eyes and gives you the enthusiasm that your busy life demands.

Try Cherry Dumplings

Cherries in their gorgeous red suits are marching to the fore in the summer food parade, appearing sometimes alone and sometimes in interesting combinations.

Here is a recipe for cherry dumplings, with one for steamed caramel pudding thrown in as an additional variation in your dessert repertoire:

Cherry Dumplings

Wash, stem and pit enough cherries to make 3 cups. Put into a saucepan with ½ cup water and 1 cup sugar and boil about 2 minutes. Make a batter from 2 cups flour sifted with 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon sugar. Cut into this 2 tablespoons shortening and add enough milk to make into a very soft dough. Drop by spoonfuls onto the boiling berries. Cover tightly and cook 15 minutes. Serve warm with whipped cream or hard sauce.

Steamed Caramel Pudding

Melt in an iron skillet, ⅓ cup sugar. When it is light brown stir in slowly, 1 cup milk. Cool the syrup. Meanwhile cream 2 tablespoons butter and beat in, one at a time, 5 egg yolks. Add the syrup, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon bread flour and 1 cup ground, unbleached almonds. Beat the batter until it is smooth and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Pour into a greased pudding mold that has been sprinkled with sugar. Cover closely and steam for 1 hour. Serve with whipped cream or with caramel syrup.

Science Church Topic Is 'Science'

"Christian Science" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. These words of Christ Jesus were the Golden Text: "The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened."

A Bible citation in the Lesson-Sermon included these passages from Luke: "After these things the Lord appointed other seventy also, and sent them two and two before his face into every city and place, whither he himself would come. Therefore said he unto them, The harvest truly is great, but the labourers are few: . . . And into whatsoever city ye enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you: and heal the sick that are therein, and say unto them, The kingdom of God is come nigh unto you."

A correlative selection from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "The infinite Truth of the Christ-cure has come to this age through a 'still, small voice,' through silent utterances and divine anointing which quicken and increase the beneficial effects of Christianity."

Sidewalk Spectator:

To the Journal: Well, the curtain has been lowered on Scene 1 (Cleveland) and Scene 2 (Philadelphia) of Act 1 of this season's political show. Up to now, we don't know whether to call it a farce or a tragedy—we'll find out later!

Curtain will rise soon on Act II, Battle of the Mud-Slingers, next on the program.

The Republicans chose a man nobody knows (a big help) for their leading role; the Democrats have the man everybody knows (some feel they know him too well) for theirs.

For the musical interlude, the Republicans have a prize song in "Three Long Years," while the Democrats are using the sound of jingling money for their music.

As a theme song, the Republicans have chosen "Off the Rocks With Landon and Knox." Up to now, the Democrats haven't decided on theirs.

Well, Bourbons, how about "Out of the Red With Roosevelt" same as you used four years ago?

Yours in the audience,
GLENN L. THORNE,
The Sidewalk Spectator.

P. S. No. Audrey, "Bourbon" is not another way to spell "Bonbon."

West Pointer Is Home on Leave

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Charles Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Anderson of Westminster, is home from West Point for his vacation. This is his first leave since entering the academy two years ago.

Anderson is a graduate of the local high school, where he was an honor student, and later attended the preparatory school for West Point at San Francisco.

Kenneth Greer, local boy who also is attending West Point, is not entitled to leave until next summer, as this is his first year at the school.

Kenneth Patrick, completing his final year at Annapolis Naval Academy, will be home in September for his month's leave.

Dinner Party Follows Wedding

ORANBE.—Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ulrich, East Collins avenue, entertained with a dinner Sunday evening at their home following the wedding of their son, Oswald, to Cora Alice Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Powell.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dauss, Anaheim, grandparents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. William Ramm, Mr. and Mrs. C. Chillot, Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fisher, Wilmington, and Dr. and Mrs. C. D. Luedke, Garden Grove.

"Floating Peril"

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

CHAPTER 45

"That was going pretty far, you know. I remember the time when I should have thrown a man out of the room who had dared to say that to me."

"I can quite understand."

"Well," Luke Wildburn went on, "my visitor's next sentence was something startling."

"'I can put you,' he assured me, 'in a position to ruin France as a civilized country at any rate for several generations.'"

"Must have been a madman," Hamer declared.

"He was no madder than I am," Luke Wildburn rejoined. "He went on to tell me his story. The proofs he had to offer were insignificant. The whole thing might very easily have been a faked up tale, but he left my office with a certified cheque for fifty thousand dollars in his pocket. He could have had more if he had asked for it. Even if it were not true his story was almost worth the money."

Hamer, who deeply interested, reverted unconsciously to the slang of his younger days.

"Gee," he muttered, "I would like to have been there!"

"He would probably have convinced you as he did me," Wildburn continued. "He reminded me of the Tositi frauds in which a number of public men were concerned and the discovery of which has given the Communist cause in France a tremendous leg up on account of the number of men in politics and public life who are involved. He went on to assure me that the Tositi affair itself was only like one little twig on a great tree. He assured me of what I have sometimes suspected—that France is being bled through the public services by politicians to an incredible extent. According to him there is scarcely a man in politics who is not deeply implicated in a gigantic scheme of national embezzlement. The six arch-embezzlers formed a small circle and, according to this visitor of mine, incredible as it seems, the amount of their defalcations would have pretty well paid France's debt to America."

"How could a country be bled to that extent?" Hamer demanded incredulously.

"The thing begins at the bottom," Luke Wildburn pointed out. "You should realize that in a budget of fifty milliards or thereabouts the officials, the pensioners and those in receipt of government assistance of some kind of other call for at least twenty-five milliards which must never appear either before the Chamber or in print. The French budged is a gigantic plum cake for those who are nearest to help themselves and are very few who do not not some of the plums. From that the whole scheme moves upward . . . At the time of the Tositi affair the man who had been the tool of the circle warned them promptly that unless he was protected certain proofs which he had collected of their wrong doing would be placed in the hands of his counsel. Their answer was a dozen revolver bullets in Tositi's body. You may think it was a queer thing this, Hamer, my boy—I scarcely believed in it myself—but the French outlook and temperament are different to ours. Anyway, I bought the clue which would enable me to handle that list of six names, and the written evidence which Tositi had in his possession, for fifty thousand dollars and a further fifty thousand later on."

"Do you mean to say that you have this evidence?"

"No, but I know where the records are which would damn some of the greatest statesmen in France and plunge the whole country into confusion," Luke Wildburn answers. "They are on your boat, the Bird of Paradise."

Hamer was speechless. He could think of nothing but Tanya. He seemed to be back on the boat on that moonless night when she had sat by his side and calmly told him her wonderful story. He remembered her words—crisp, cool, exquisitely poignant. In all this labyrinth of lies and inventions here had been the truth.

"It isn't —it couldn't be possible," he faltered.

"It is very possible indeed," his father answered tritely. "It is not a certainty, of course, but I am not exactly a credulous person and I have ventured a hundred thousand dollars on it. A great many secrets, Hamer, have gone down to the bottom of the sea this way. My visitor was the draftsman to the naval architect who designed the Bird of Paradise and the paper he gave me was a plan showing exactly where the secret hiding places were made. The boat will have to be practically disembowelled. She will probabyl be useless afterwards, but that really doesn't matter much. Now, see, my boy, why I must have your boat."

Hamer made no reply. His father watched him with searching eyes. Dimly he began to wonder whether it was possible that he had made a mistake in confiding the secret of the Bird of Paradise to his son. Hamer could never feel the same hatred as had scarred his own life. France had been a second home to him. He had probably grown to love the country. Even at his father's bidding he might hesitate to aid in striking her this mortal blow. Too late now. He had chosen his weapons and he must abide by them.

"What you have told me, Hamer," he continued, "concerning these other people who have been trying to buy the boat from you seems to me to be strong confirmation of the story as it was handed over to me. At any rate, as soon as the boat comes into my possession I shall pull her to pieces and I shall know exactly where to find these records."

"And when you have found them?"

"It may depend to some extent upon the names of the men implicated," Luke Wildburn admitted. "At any rate, I promise you that I shall know how to use the document. I do not pretend that I shall not use it ruthlessly, because I shall. France will receive the greatest shock she has ever known in her life—worse than the Revolution itself."

There was a light in his father's eyes which Hamer had only seen there once before—something intensely and bitterly cruel. He felt a shiver of something like fear.

"Father," he said, "we shall never be so close together again as we are now. Is this hatred of yours for France political only or is it inspired as well by the memory of a woman—my mother—who is dead?"

"I am glad you have asked that question," Luke Wildburn replied, "but although you are my son, and hers, Hamer, I shall not answer it. You know for yourself that since the day she left me I have never set my foot on French soil and you know for yourself that I never forgive. Most men in their lives," he went on with marked deliberation, "have one great love or one great hate, men I mean who have walked in the lofty places of life. It may be so with you. I leave it to you to divine for yourself. I only ask you, for your own sake, to remember this. Remember that you are now a partner in the world's most dangerous secret. A word, the breath of a word, and there is a whole army of assassins ready for us, a crowd that would make the gangsters of Chicago seem like children playing on a nursery floor. How you lived on that boat, Hamer, and escaped being killed is more than I can imagine, especially after that littue danseuse had visited you. You had the luck of innocence, I suppose."

"Is the Marquis de Montelimar one of the people implicated?" Hamer asked.

"How do I know?" his father answered. "I'll tell you when the records come into my hands. I imagine that the first name we draw will give the whole world a shock. Concerning others I am not sure."

Hamer Wildburn was feeling dazed and utterly miserable, perhaps more miserable than he had ever been before in his life. The overwhelming suspicion that Lucienne's father must somehow be concerned in the records.

"Why do you deal with this horrible business yourself, Father?" he asked. "Of course, I know that newspapers nowadays practically govern the world. They make war or peace. They unearth horrible conspiracies. Thel deal in the honor of great men, they traffic with the national conscience of countries. But it is not their office. They were never meant to mete out justice. It is a foul way to balance the scales of justice. This thing, if it must be brought to light, Dad, should never be done through the newspapers. There is at any rate one man in France who can be trusted—General Perissol. He has control over all the police and the internal secret service of France. Why not let him deal with this matter?"

"General Perissol is an honorable man so far as I know," Luke Wildburn admitted. "On the other hand I am not sure that he would deal with this affair as I intend it to be dealt with."

"You are taking a great responsibility," sir," Hamer insisted.

"I dont' think that any one ever took a greater," his father agreed. "However, it has come and I am ready for it . . . Shall I send for Ned? We had better have some sort of deed of sale. Ned can take it down to Antibes tonight. I have a plane waiting and the crew are all ready to go on board. You can have the cheque now."

"I don't want the cheque, Dad," Hamer said. "I'm not thinking about that. I'm thinking of the ruin which will surely come upon France if you publish those names."

Luke Wildburn made no reply. He stretched out his hand towards the bell. Hamer caught his wrist just in time.

"Don't bother, please," he begged. "I must think for a moment."

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP)—Heaviness of steels put a damper on a stock market rally today which was inaugurated by Chrysler with a jump to a new 6-year top.

Late profit-taking showed up in most departments, although the motor leader and several specialties held gains of fractions to around 2 points. The close was irregular. Transfers approximated 800,000 shares. Prices follow:

Grain Market

CHICAGO. (AP)—Buoyantly soaring, late as well as early, corn rose 2 cents a bushel today, and outdid season top-price records for September and December contracts.

Abnormally high temperatures prevalent over the corn belt, with dearth of moisture, provided active incentive to purchase corn. Final transactions in corn were at the day's topmost level.

Corn closed strong, ½-2½c above Saturday's finish, July 66⅝-66½c, September 66⅛-66¾c, December

What Are His Plans?

IF HIS acceptance speech betokens the tenor of the campaign, President Roosevelt will carefully avoid the blunders which he made in 1932 and which are coming home to roost. He now promises the country nothing.

In 1932 he promised too many things—such as a reduction of federal expenses by 25 per cent—which he could not or did not deliver.

The sudden collapse of the banking system, the spurt in unemployment and other factors three years ago, over which he had no control, no doubt forced the President to abrogate his pledges in many instances. The violent change of national conditions upset all carefully prepared plans and forced the administration to adopt a patchwork program which contained bad points as well as good.

But no such emergency exists now. The nation has a right to know what to expect if the New Deal continues. It is not sufficient for the President merely to assure a continuance of his policies. Some of these policies seem to us inimical to political and economic liberty.

It is not fair to expect 130,000,000 people to make another blind date for four years with an administration which has without warning produced such different children as the wise stock market act and the stupid slaughter of pigs, or the laudable CCC camps and the abominable spoils system of Postmaster General Farley.

We would like to know if F. D. R. proposes to revive the NRA, if he plans to enlarge the supreme court so as to get a liberal majority, if he has in mind balancing the budget or continuing to borrow and pass the buck on to future administrations, if he plans to urge passage of more unconstitutional legislation, if he looks to the further extension of a bureaucratic form of government, and many other things.

This country is not out of the woods yet. And when it gets out it wants to be still the United States of America—a little better than when it went in—but still the same democracy at heart. Not some strange, new and untried form of government.

President Roosevelt owes it to his fellow citizens to carefully elucidate what he plans for the next four years—if re-elected.

Anyhow, when Al Smith takes a walk, he takes it, instead of merely moving around in a circle like Bill Borah.

A $500,000 Service

TO THOSE officials and employes whose good judgment and economical administration are responsible for the half million dollar surplus in the Orange County treasury at the close of this fiscal year, we extend the grateful thanks of the people.

The tax yoke has been heavy and hard to bear. Accumulated levies of the nation, the state and the city—piled on top of those assessed by the county—have taken as high as $3 to $4 out of every $10 earned.

Much of this burden, it is true, was created by the people themselves in their demands for new public services and in the excessive issuance of bonds. Item by item, new expenses have been added to the operating costs of the government.

Often this lamentable fact is lost sight of in the try for public economy, and officials are bitterly and unjustly criticised for matters over which they have little or no control.

It seems quite certain that no real relief from the intolerable load is in sight until the people themselves become tax conscious, and until they consent to remove from the purview of government the many services and duties which belong elsewhere if economy is to be achieved.

Meanwhile, public servants can speed progress toward the common goal by observing sound judgment and thrift in the functions which they are called upon to perform. We take it that the half-million-dollar surplus in the Orange county chest means that this is being capably done here.

With the Republicans hopeful and the Democrats getting scared, it's beginning to look like a battle after all.

Crush This Menace

WE THOUGHT the silly season was over when the chain letter fad died out, but apparently it is back again with the introduction of that new guessing foolishness, "What Is It?"

People are parading around shaking their hands in queer charades as if they had St. Vitus dance and asking, "What Is It?"

A friend the other day made a V out of his right hand and held it up under his nose, while he placed his left with four fingers extended behind his head and shouted, "What Is It?" When we gave up, he whooped, "An Indian chief riding in a V-8."

Anyway, the new diversion probably won't last longer than a platform promise, a flagpole sitter or the ouija board craze.

The Unwelcome Guest

AS WE WRITE these lines, a mountain fire is raging in the San Bernardino National forest—summer and winter playground for thousands of Californians—and valuable watershed for the seasonal streams which supply the coastal agricultural area.

The brush fire hazard is high this year. Warnings have been issued by authorities. Do your bit to prevent conflagrations by observing safety regulations when in fire territory.

Ticking off my piece and to see my dentist, Guy Campbell, recovered from his arthritis. Then to meet my lady and Peggy Hoyt and we drove northward through the Harlem Speedway to watch scullers in the river awhile and then for a light snack at the St. Regis.

In the evening to Jules Glaenzer's dinner party for Lord and Lady Milford-Haven of Britain and home early to find a letter from Watterson Rothacker telling news of London, especially of Tom Geraghty gone three years now and must have his tea every afternoon or fret, the old fruit.

Park avenue's commercial inroads are increasing despite everything to keep it a strictly high class residential rue. Almost every month sees one of the exclusive apartment houses slicing its first floor into a cluster of bright shops. One of the large hotels—The Park Lane—has given over its main dining room for an automobile display room. From Forty-ninth to Sixtieth street is now almost a solid line of first floor business ventures—all pringing into being within the last five years. Five more years and Park at its present pace will be as business-like as Fifth.

There is speculation as to which thoroughfare will be the next residential "street of streets." Many believe lah-de-dah areas will be scattery. Zones a few blocks long niched in the slums like Sutton and Beekman places. Others think it may swing to upper Madison or Lexington above the 60's. Real estate men, of course, look expectantly for a twitch of their divining rods. To know in advance means an easily acquired fortune. Like the Astors on a lesser scale.

Captain Bob Bartlett, the apple-cheeked Arctic adventurer, with the Irish brogue is one of the leisurely pipe-smoking strollers when in town. Big, bluff and with the rolling gait of the sea, he suggests the ancient Norseman. Window displays and minor street scenes interest him. Because of his frequent film appearance he is usually recognized, especially by boys, to whom he seems a hero. When a crowd of them gets too big he jockeys them into a soda fountain, stands treat and makes his escape. Now and then he wanders down to South street in the neighborhood of the Seaman's Institute, where he usually runs across some venerable sea dog for a session of yarning out on a pier end.

The job of chauffeuring, like so many others that flourish with good times, has undergone much sail trimming in the metropolis the past few years. The chauffeur driven car is almost an oddity. In boom times the expert chauffeur made from $40 to as high as $75 a week, was furnished uniforms and often got about three months vacation a year while his employer was in Europe or Palm Beach. Today chauffeurs are procurable for $35 a week, must often furnish their regalia and are given only the customary two weeks vacation. Many chauffeur ads offer $60 a month pay at country homes with room and board but applicants must be willing to wait on table and do a little gardening. And one job wanted ad read: "Ex-Russian prince, crack chauffeur on Czar's staff, $25 weekly and board."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—There was a secret meeting of senate Progressives, during the closing days of congress, which may have an important bearing on how the liberal vote lines up for Roosevelt.

At this meeting it was decided to attach a string to the support which LaFollette, Shipstead and other senators who favor the New Deal are willing to give the President in November.

This string is a proviso that Jim Farley and the Democratic national committee keep hands off the political situation in their states.

The left-wingers are very bitter over such interference. While they are giving their all to uphold the hand of the President in Washington, they believe Farley and his lieutenants are trying to meat-axe their party organizations at home.

WISCONSIN AND MINNESOTA

Wisconsin and Minnesota are two cases in point. In both states the liberals have independent parties—in Wisconsin the Progressives, in Minnesota the Farmer-Laborites—and in both states the independents control the incumbent governments. And in both, the Democrats have placed gubernatorial tickets in the field.

In Wisconsin the Democratic candidate is Arthur Lueck, a conservative lawyer. In Minnesota the Democrats nominated Fred P. Curtis, a state legislator.

These Democratic aspirants have no chance to win in either state. But the liberals fear that in a three-cornered fight the Democrat will draw enough votes away to let the Republicans slip in.

The left-wingers charge that the local Democrats are receiving aid and comfort from the national committee. They recall that in 1934 Emil Hurja, Farley's lieutenant, stumped Minnesota for the Democratic ticket against Governor Olson and his Farmer-Laborites.

Now, in exchange for their support, the liberals demand that Farley and Hurja be called off and required to tend to their own knitting. Otherwise, they warn ominously, the President will receive no help from them in combatting the third party machinations of Father Coughlin, Dr. Townsend and the Share-the-Wealthers.

LOBBYIST SHIFT

Lobbyist hordes, once swarming in the halls of congress, now have scattered to the executive offices of the government. Here they can work more quietly, sometimes more effectively.

One lobbyist who has even approached the White House is a co-partner of Charles C. Wright, Wall street operator, charged by the securities exchange commission with running a pool in Kinner Airplane stock. He has been hanging around the executive offices for a week trying to get the SEC called off.

Note—Speaking of lobbyists, Bainbridge Colby, ex-secretary of state, and recent joiner with Al Smith in attacking Roosevelt, once tried to get the SEC to reopen the case aaginst J. Edward Jones, oil operator, now under indictment.

FIRST AND LAST

The final sessions of the long drawn out committee conference on the tax bill were most distressing to Senator William King.

The Utahan was chairman of the senate conferees, but he wobbled so much on whether he did or did not favor a compromise that finally his colleagues, in effect, brushed him aside and worked under the leadership of Representative Robert Doughton, head of the house conferees.

King was much miffed at this. He said nothing to his fellow committee members, but when newsmen sought to obtain some information from him on the status of the conference, he read them a sharp lecture on being too inquisitive.

"Personally," he said, "I am deaf, dumb and blind."

"Why include the first and last?" inquired one of the newsmen.

HENRY'S CONSTITUTION

One of the liveliest chapters in Henry Wallace's forthcoming book, "Whose Constitution?", is the one on the constitutional convention. It is titled, "The Wise Young Men of 1787," and it opens with this sentence:

"The founding fathers were young men who knew what they wanted and were brilliantly successful in getting it."

FROM MISSOURI

Kim Clark, 7-year-old twin son of Senator Bennett Champ Clark, is a true Missourian. He has to be shown.

Kim does not like to eat breakfast cereal. To induce him to do so, his mother dropped a few raisins into the bowl. The other morning, however, she found the raisin box empty. So she said:

"Kim, I guess you will have to eat your cereal without raisins this morning."

"Oh, mother," he objected. "I don't like something with nothing in it."

It supplies power to communities in 32 counties in Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia . . . C. L. G., Winston-Salem, N. C.—Salaries of capitol police, who serve in the U. The navy department declares that this is a White House matter, and the White House passes the buck back to the navy. Congressman Taber of New York stated in the house that the figure was $118,000. She was rechristened the Potomac, quarters for the President were built on the main deck, and four new cabins were built on the first deck.

BRIGHT MOMENTS

During the time that Talleyrand was minister of foreign affairs under Napoleon, Col. Aaron Burr came to Paris and sent his card to the great Frenchman. Talleyrand returned the car with the following curt and pointed remark: "I have the portrait of General Hamilton hanging in my parlor."

Twenty-Five Years Ago

JUNE 29, 1911

The last meeting of the W. C. T. U. before the summer vacation was held in Birch park yesterday. A number of short stories in regard to tobacco, cigaret smoking, etc., were read by Mrs. Jessie Burns, Mrs. Eva Raitt, Mrs. George Heil, Mrs. R. R. Wallace, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Vawter, and Mrs. Clay Kellogg. These were enjoyed by children and older people alike.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

More Intelligence Needed in Affairs of Government

POPULAR government is threatened with two dangers, both of which are in the general drift of things and largely beyond popular control. The public business is getting more complex. At the same time it is getting more impersonal, further removed from the people who support it. To escape these two evils, the devil on the one hand and the deep sea on the other, is a direct challenge to the good sense and political instinct of the American people.

* * *

Complexity in government is only another phase of the general trend in all modern life. As industrial processes become more and more technical, as people get farther away from the handcraft stage, as they become more dependent on community enterprise for the very necessities of life, the instruments of government by which social agencies are directed and controlled become more detailed and more intricate.

* * *

Government, likewise, is more impersonal. It bears more heavily on the individual but at a greater distance from him. The long ballot, filled with names and measures which most people know little about, is a case in point. Candidates for office are mere names. Important proposals, demanding careful attention on scientific matters, stare at the voter. In his helplessness, the average voter is inclined to shut his eyes and scratch blindly at the impossible sheet before him, or neglect the duty altogether.

* * *

Many are alarmed over the apparent indifference of many voters to the importance of voting. They consider it a serious decline in the capacity of the people to govern themselves. They see in it an excuse for higher authority to usurp the power which the people neglect to exercise for their own good. These assumptions are probably false.

* * *

The people are better informed and more politically-minded than ever before. Our fathers had no such complex problems to solve as confront us now. They appeared to be efficient as voters because their voting problems were simple and easily done. Considering the voting difficulties today, the people do remarkably well. Nowhere is there better civic virtue, more political courage and intelligence, more genuine patriotism than is found in common folks today. Their political salvation lies in their own hands and not in some distant authority assumed by those installed in power.

The People

This department belongs to The People. Letters to the editor on various subjects are welcomed and will be published, provided they do not contain abusive and personal references. Their publication does not necessarily imply the opinions they express are shared by The Journal. Letters must be signed, although signatures will be omitted upon request.

A BAD SITUATION

To the Editor: It has come to an awful state of affairs when one man, or party, can only indulge in abuse to the other fellow, in proving that he is more capable of the position he seeks to attain. I think I have never listened to more of this than I have heard over the air from the Democratic national convention and being held in the "City of Brotherly Love."

This, however, is not to be wondered at, for after the beautiful prayer, and the introduction of the first speaker, the band followed with "The Old Cat." This was very appropriate to the past four years as well as to the abuse that followed and will probably be for the next four years if the F. D. R. New Deal is carried out.

What Other Editors Say

VETERANS BONDS ARE ALSO DESIGNED AS INVESTMENT

(The Riverside Enterprise)

So much has been in the newspapers about the procedure to be followed in turning a bonus bond into cash that a veteran could be excused for thinking the bonds were intended only to be cashed.

However, it still is true that if the recipient of a bonus has no immediate use for the cash, the bonds will make a first-rate investment. A federal government bond is an excellent thing to have salted away for an emergency. They draw three per cent interest, which is more than can be had on almost any other sort of safe investment nowadays. And they may be turned into cash at the holder's convenience any time until they finally become payable in 1945.

Incidentally the veteran who refrains from cashing his immediately can enjoy the satisfaction of having helped to relieve a strain on that splendid, but chronically indigent institution, the U. S. treasury.

Remarkable Remarks

The world has reached the time which is regarded by every thoughtful being as a parting of the ways . . . are we going back to a world without the League of Nations? Madness — not even mid-summer madness. — Ramsay MacDonald, former British prime minister.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Dr. Byron Mock, city school physician, has gone East. It's vacation time. So he thought he would like to take Mrs. Mock and go to Rockford, Ill., where some folks live he used to know. Isn't that why most of us go places? There is a longing to meet the old friends. Distance does not lessen our appreciation or friendship. Hope "Doc" and the Mrs. have a good time. Maybe one of these days I might get to take a trip and see the old Bohemian club at Keokuk. If I do it will be a big time in a small town.

* * *

And then Guy Gilbert, who is the delegate from Santa Ana to the Rotary International convention at Atlantic City, sends a card that he is enjoying the trip. Also the Rotary Ann who is with him, who in this case is Mrs. Gilbert. I like to hear from the folks who are in transit. Somehow or other I've always been able to get some pleasure out of the other fellow's enjoyment, but when one of those darn sirens sounds then I begin to wonder if some of my friends have been in an accident, and usually I can imagine things that never happened. So if you go on a trip send me a card whether you know me or I know you, and I can get some enjoyment out of your trip. This is a national political year and there should be some deviation in order to let a little sunlight into the corners not occupied by politics.

My worries are about over on the Charley Walker new Temple theater. The contractors have reached the end of the east wall with that airdrome roof. Gee, for a time they had me worried. Now I know what it's all about. Isn't it funny that we worry about what the other fellow knows all the time.

About that picture of me appearing in Saturday evening's Journal. I want my friends, enemies, and to all whom it may concern, to know that those shorts were not of my choice. I was pushed into 'em. Had 'em on in reverse until Managing Editor Jack Ellwanger changed the perspective. But what's the difference. No one will notice me anyway, but I had a swell sparring partner. If after seeing me in shorts the custom becomes popular I'll begin to think the public decision is either charitable, or cockeyed.

The conversation becomes desultory and maybe Les wasn't asleep when I came in, but he had his eyes closed and he didn't open 'em until some fellow gave the bus call for Fourth and Broadway. Midwesterners who now make California their home will receive no satisfaction from weather reports which predict widespread damage in the former home sector. Drought again is invading that fertile area and the hope that the wheat belt would this year again assume the role of exporter has vanished. The corn belt is also in the danger zone. What the heat failed to destroy grasshoppers did. Some recovery is possible with "the more abundant rain," but the indications are not hopeful. After all, there is some advantage in irrigation, even if you do have to pay for the water.
